Most Luxurious Mansion in Canada

Government House Waits in Splendor To Welcome Queen

By EILEEN LEAROYD

When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip move into British Columbia's new Government House July 16 and 17, they will be staying in the most expensive and luxurious government mansion in Canada.

The $1,600,000 vice-regal residence, which boasts a lower-lounge fireplace inlaid with gold-bearing quartz, is even more lavish than Ottawa's Rideau Hall.

See Pages 25, 26 and 27.

When the Queen enters her Victoria "home" she will be confronted by a sea of scarlet carpet, pink walls, drapes patterned after the ancestral fabric of Earl Lothian's castle, acres of natural oak and B.C. spruce panelling, pink marble fireplaces, wallpaper embossed with a velvet texture, and an emerald and white drawing room.

Crests of every member of the Royal Family and crests of every governor-general who has stayed at Government House are mounted over the dining room fireplace.

Portraits of every former lieutenant-governor of B.C., privately commissioned by the present lieutenant-governor, line the walls of the great entrance hall and flank the life-size portraits of the Queen and the Prince done by Arthur Parr of England.

Sun-Washed Look

Gone are the dark blue walls in the entrance, and the big stained-glass windows. The whole entrance is now lit by a fine white paper finely figured in deep red. Clear glass now forms the big hall window which reaches nearly two storeys, giving Government House a fresh, sun-and-air washed look it never seemed to have before.

The suite already prepared for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip is a masterpiece of understated good taste and comfort.

Mrs. Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor, personally selected all furnishings and decorations for the royal suite. On the second floor, it is made up of two bedrooms, two bathrooms, a sitting-room and a dressing room.

The sitting room is L-shaped, with rose carpeting, chairs and sofas covered in white satin with a floral design, pink-and-white marble fireplace. The whole room is bathed in sunshine and the flock wallpaper in ivory reflects the shadings of the sky and ocean which seem to pour in the big windows.

A large dressing room is simply four walls of mirrors, cupboards and drawers which reach to the ceiling.

Mirrored in Chandelier

The principal bedroom again repeats the velvet-texture ivory walls. The drapes are of floral satin, there is another pink-and-white marble fireplace, the woodwork is a muted champagne color, and all the pinks and blues and greens in the drapes and on the satin-upholstered beds are mirrored in the sparkling crystal chandelier.

The second bedroom, furnished in a more masculine fashion, carries out an ivory-and-green theme mixed with soft grey. "The McNab" by Raeburn dominates the fireplace.

Both the principal bathroom and the second bathroom are designed with astonishing luxury. There are white rugs on the floors. The principal bathroom has a variety of crystal appointments. The walls are muted pink, the bathtub is pink, the walls are blue-grey, there are cupboards and indirect lighting.

The second bathroom is quite as impressive, in grey-green. Telephones are white. The cupboards, lined with cedar, are lighted.

Stairway for Royalty

For the special convenience of royal guests there is the West Stairway, carpeted in scarlet, which runs from the top floor, down through the suites for royal visitors, to the main floor, and down to the lower floor.

On this "royal floor" is also the suite for His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Ross and Mrs. Ross, plus four other luxurious bedrooms.

On the floor above are nine bedrooms which may be used for the staffs of distinguished visitors.

The large bedroom immediately above the royal suite is already in readiness for the Queen's dresser.

When the Queen and Prince Philip arrive, they will be accompanied by a fairly large staff. Mrs. Ross says nine or more will occupy the top floor, and a further eight or nine will be accommodated in a cottage in Government House grounds.

CCFer Raps Spending On Lavish New Home

Criticism of "lavish" spending on British Columbia's new Government House in Victoria was levelled at the Social Credit government Wednesday by Gordon Dowding, CCF MLA for Burnaby.

Mr. Dowding, who toured the building with other members of the legislature Tuesday, said in Vancouver he wished the government gave "as much care and attention to other buildings."

He said a new home for the aged at Essondale will open Friday after seven years of planning and construction at a cost of $1,900,000.

"And yet when the lieutenant-governor and his wife are homeless," he said, "the government takes only two years to build a sumptuous, lavish structure for $1,600,000." This, he said, was "a commentary on the social philosophy of this government."

Home, Sweet Home

Home at last in the new $1,600,000 Government House, Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross relaxed in his easy chair and said: "I like it." He spent undisclosed thousands of dollars of his own money to help furnish the new mansion.

A sea of red carpeting borders the magnificent ballroom floor of Government House, is repeated up the graceful staircase and around the glass and gold gallery. Here is seen the south end of the ballroom where large gold velvet poufs and brocade chairs contrast with the glow of the quarter-cut red oak floor. The three chandeliers in this room each weigh 200 pounds.

PRINCESS ANNE

Princess To Join Brownies

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Anne will become a Brownie and have her own pack in Buckingham Palace, it was announced yesterday, and like all "Brownies" she will have to do the dishes.

It was Queen Elizabeth's idea that her lively eight-year-old daughter don the brown uniform of the "Brownie" of the Girl Scouts. The Queen is a former Girl Guide and patron of the Girl Guides Association.

The "Princess Anne" pack will be open to members of the now-operating Holy Trinity pack and "certain" children who live near Buckingham Palace. A palace spokesman said the children would be from all walks of life.

Garbage Collection Would End

A spokesman for Victoria's 250 civic outside workers said last night the union will strike "whenever we see fit" unless city council agrees to a 19-cent wage increase.

C. M. Thompson, as delegate representing the Civic Employees Protective Association, Local 50, made the statement in a report to Victoria Labor Council.

Earlier in the evening Mayor Scurrah had no comments on the strike decision.

UNANIMOUS VOTE
VLC delegates voted unanimously to support the union in any strike.

If the union strikes it will halt garbage collection, street cleaning, road repairs and a number of other services in the city.

"If you suffer any inconvenience," Mr. Thompson told delegates, "I ask you not to blame civic employees, but to blame the city fathers."

OFFER REJECTED
He said the union rejected the latest settlement offer drafted at a special city council meeting Tuesday. At the union meeting held Tuesday night membership decided to strike "whenever we see fit."

Mr. Thompson said: "And if the city doesn't come up with the 19 cents an hour recommended by the conciliation board—that's what is going to happen."

He said Victoria's civic outside workers now get wages below those of surrounding municipalities despite the fact that it is the second largest city in B.C.

ONLY $1.74

Even with the 19-cent increase sought by the union, he said, civic outside workers here would only receive $1.74 compared with the $1.79 base pay for other Island municipalities. "All the figures show we're entitled to an increase of 41 cents an hour (union's original request) . . . but the city has even refused to look at the 19 cents recommended by the conciliation board."

The city has publicly offered the union 7½ cents, and it is understood that the latest offer rejected by the outside workers was for 9 cents.

'We Won't Start It'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an interview made public yesterday, told a group of American visitors that the Soviet Union "will not start a war." "And no lunatic in the United States will start one," the premier added.

Windsor To Testify?

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—A member of the Bahaman House of Assembly said Wednesday it is imperative that the Duke of Windsor come to Nassau and disclose what information he has on the Sir Harry Oakes murder case. (See also Page 5.)

Wicks Denies Charges

VANCOUVER (CP)—Labor Minister Lyle Wicks hit back Wednesday night at IWA officials who criticized his department's "reversal of policy" in the coast forest industry negotiations.

He also dared both the union and management negotiators to propose a better way out of the impasse.

"They may have thought they were bargaining in good faith, but in the view of the conciliation officer they were quite far apart and there was no basis for settlement," Mr. Wicks said.

"At present a conciliation board appears to be the only avenue," he said. "However, I have asked both parties to give me their recommendations on an alternative procedure."

Threat of an illegal strike by 30,000 coast lumber workers hovers over British Columbia.

Joe Morris, IWA district president, charged in Vancouver yesterday that Labor Minister Lyle Wicks has set the stage for open conflict in the forest industry by reversing policy.

And IWA official Edwin Haw told Victoria Labor Council last night "the union can do one of two things" in light of Mr. Wicks' decision to refer the dispute to a conciliation board.

Mr. Haw said the IWA in March decided on a "no contract, no work" policy and since it was "impossible" to complete conciliation proceedings by the June 15 contract expiry date one alternative was to stage an illegal walk-out June 16.

Other alternative, said Mr. Haw, was for IWA delegates to decide whether the June 15 deadline should be extended.

Mr. Morris said Mr. Wicks told both parties four weeks ago a conciliation officer would be allowed to prepare a report with recommendations in lieu of those of a conciliation board.

The IWA and coast lumber operators were called to Mr. Wicks' Victoria office Tuesday, he said, and conciliation officer R. G. Clements' report was given. It recommended only that the dispute be referred to a conciliation board.

John Billings of Forest Industrial Relations, representing the operators, said management also had understood "that the conciliation officer would bring down a report that would eliminate the necessity of a conciliation board."

WILL Canada go the way that Texas went? "American penetration isn't just a bogey," writes Mrs. Annie Rhodes, 1418 Cook Street. "What about Texas, which was taken by infiltration?"

Will the day come when Canada is the "Maple Leaf State," and standard jokes about it are to be found in every after-dinner speech?

Why did Toronto buy 50 buses from the United States instead of from a Canadian firm, Mrs. Rhodes wants to know.

"Surely there is much to be looked into... Are we to be satisfied with the crumbs? It will take much protesting to make them think we really mean business."

E. Le Gresley, 589 Hampshire Road, had this to say in a letter:

"I was struck by the fact that after reading your article on Page 2, in which you deplore the fact that the Canadian company could not get the contract for electric turbines, because the American manufacturers would not stand for it, that on page 15 Harry Young says that the Toronto Transport Commission had decided to purchase 50 buses built in the U.S.A...."

The TTC reached this decision in spite of the fact that the Canadian Car Company could have built each vehicle for $2,542 less than the American price.

"Don't you think something smells somewhere? Or would you say that we are just being stupid? Perhaps there is more to getting a contract than giving a set of figures. It was Maurice Colbourne who said that under our present financial set up, 'Peace means economic war, and war means economic peace.'"

"I believe it is only a matter of time before we in Canada will be dominated economically by our neighbor to the south, because in Canada we thought more of easy money than independence."

I think Mr. Le Gresley's last remark hits the nail on the head.

Americans are a vigorous, open-handed and friendly people. I don't believe the majority of them have any thought of launching a sinister campaign to annex Canada.

However, circumstances are driving us toward the status of an economic colony. We will continue to move in that direction, unless we care enough to do something about it.

Philip Paskin dropped in with a basket of the first strawberries of the season from Saanich district. He told me he is raising the herb comfrey, recommended by garden columnist M. V. Chesnut as a remedy for asthma.

He says a number of asthma patients have gained spectacular relief by eating comfrey leaves in their salads.

The active medicinal substance in comfrey is a substance called allantoin. Nobody seems to know exactly how it works, but it apparently does some people good.

'Rid-Saanich-of-Rats' Campaign Coming from Health Planners

Saanich health committee will meet officials of the Saanich and Southern Vancouver Island Health Unit May 28 to discuss inauguration of an intensive anti-rat campaign.

Meeting followed a report to Saanich council by Dr. A. N. Beattie of the health unit urging elimination of rats which migrate to Saanich from Victoria and Esquimalt, which do have control programs.

George Watts, the unit's senior sanitary inspector, said he favors a full control program for all of southern Vancouver Island.

"Where you see a rat, it has been estimated, there are two rats for every person," he said.

Lucky Angler Wed His Biggest Catch

LONDON (AP)—Fisherman Brian Lane told Wednesday how he hooked his biggest catch—a 132-pound blonde he later married.

Lane was angling in a pond on London's Hampstead Heath. The float went under, he gave a tug and the hook ripped an embarrassing piece off a young girl's swimsuit.

"The girl was blushing like a beetroot when she came round to where I was standing," said Lane, in a letter to the London Star.

"So I made a date and bought her a new swimming outfit."

Later he popped the question and the girl said yes.

"We still laugh whenever I say 'Let's go fish-in,'" Lane added.

LONDON—Aphrodite, goddess of love—sometimes irreverently called Bulbous Betty—got her marching orders yesterday.

The nude statue in Richmond's Terrace Gardens has to move—but Richmond council, which voted 19 to 15 that she must go, didn't say where.

Seven years ago, Richmond accepted Allen Howes' statue after spirited debate. Since then, Aphrodite often met the dawn with her shapely body daubed in paint, once even in a red bikini.

Final insult came last month when some unfeeling soul scrawled "Bulbous Betty" in indelible paint across her lovely back.

City of London Plans 35 Acres of Homes

Desolate Plain Of Rubble

LONDON (Reuters) — City of London architects Wednesday unveiled a new project to rebuild the city's largest remaining blitzed area and inject residential life into the almost homeless heart of this sprawling metropolis.

The 35-acre site in the north of the mile-square City has been a desolate plain of rubble for 8½ years. This ruined area — called "Barbican" after the gate-house which once formed a doorway in London's encircling walls — was a centre of business and trade before the Second World War, as the rest of the City is still.

ONE NIGHT

Stretching from the medieval Guildhall north to the city boundary, the Barbican area was flattened in one night — Dec. 29, 1940 — when German bombers showered thousands of incendiary bombs on the heart of London.

The new plan calls for construction of a self-contained community of a partments, houses, stores, schools, a hotel, theatre and concert hall. Estimated cost of the seven-year building plan is £20,000,000.

HOMES WANTED

Previous plans to repair the bomb damage were rejected because they featured office blocks or factories.

The City has a working population which floods in each morning and leaves the 2,000-year-old original London tomb-like at night.

Stadlund, 38, died May 14 from burns suffered in the explosion and fire aboard the ship. He was the second man to die as a result of the disaster.

Fraser Tunnel Tolls 'Sound Pretty Steep'

RICHMOND, B.C. (CP) — Reeve John Stolberg said Wednesday tolls for the Oak Street bridge and Deas Island tunnel are unfair to residents and detrimental to potential industrial development.

In Vancouver, Mayor Tom Alsbury said "The tolls sound pretty steep to me—both for the commuter and the tourist." The new tunnel under the Fraser will be opened to traffic Saturday. It will form part of a freeway to the United States border.

The tunnel fare will be 50 cents cash each way and an extra 10 cents each way if the bridge is used.

'Bullet for Your Head'

MP Threatened By Ku Kluxers

LONDON (AP) — A member of Parliament who asked the government to protect persons threatened by the Ku Klux Klan has been warned he will die if he does not keep quiet. An anonymous letter to Labor MP Charles Gibson said: "Keep your sentimental mouth shut both inside and outside the House of Commons. Remember we have a bullet for your head if you want it."

Gibson represents a South London area in which a number of Negro immigrants from the West Indies live. Competition between immigrant Negroes and poor whites for jobs and housing has resulted in race riots in Britain and a Ku Klux movement.

The latter so far is believed confined to a comparatively few fanatics.

Last week Gibson asked Home Secretary Richard Butler to give police protection to persons receiving threatening letters.

Bear Hunt Flop? Try 'Frontier'

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — The Prince George, B.C., Junior Chamber of Commerce has wired Mayor Leo del Villano of Timmins suggesting that with the "failure" of last week's bear hunt to produce more than three skins the mayor should retire from the hunt and leave the job to those fully qualified.

In reply the mayor wrote that he had received the "ridiculous, and silly telegram" and was happy with results of the hunt.

The Jaycees said that for many years they have been supplying bearskins for Buckingham Palace Guards' ceremonial hats. In return for the skins, they have received the Guards' older hats which they have worn.

The telegram added:

"With some indignation we noted your announced intention to take upon yourselves this task. Now that you failed to obtain more than three skins, we assume that you will retire gracefully leaving the job to those who by nature of their natural environment and their world-renowned prowess as frontier hunters are fully qualified to do justice to this regal task."

Meanwhile, the pile of bearskins for the Buckingham Palace Guards grew to 13 Wednesday.

Bear No. 14 was captured but set free. It was the cub of a 200-pound mother bear shot Tuesday.

The hunt continues until June 15 when Ontario bear hunting licences expire.

The animals are just starting to stir from a long winter's hibernation and there were snow flurries in the area last weekend.

Japanese Facing Prejudice

VANCOUVER (CP) — Rev. Tadashi Mitsui, 27, a Japanese United Church Minister, said Wednesday "hidden" discrimination is practised against Japanese in Vancouver.

"It is a heart-breaking job trying to find living accommodation for many young Japanese couples moving to this city," said Mr. Mitsui.

"Many landlords take one look at us and just say 'No.' I ask whether it is because we are Japanese. They strongly deny it, but give no reason."

Co-ordinating Service

MOST bus patrons in the Greater Victoria area appear to be reconciled to the inevitability of some reduction in the frequency of service and a variation of bus routes as a compromise solution of the franchise holders' current problems. It was either that, or a further increase in transit fares which in the end would defeat its purpose by increasing the loss on operations incurred now. Nor are the municipalities in a position to subsidize bus transportation in any fashion.

As the inter-municipal committee and the B.C. Electric review a suggested basis of settlement, which then will need to go before the councils and the utility commission for approval, the prime element may rest in co-ordinating the curtailment of bus frequency and route realignment to the best interest of all concerned.

The 20-minute bus service after 7 p.m. has been in effect for some time without disruption of community needs. Apart from the early morning, noon and supper hours of the day when heavy bus traffic has to be handled, there are slack periods both morning and evening when fewer buses on the same routes and some realignment of the routes would probably care for the volume of traffic offering. In the longer spaced evening service now patrons time their journeys to a bus stop; and this, can lessen the waiting period on most occasions.

Municipal spokesman who have discussed the proposed change-over have already stressed the essentials of the case: Greater Victoria workers will have to be assured of getting to and from work at the rush periods of the day; special events and public holidays when there may be need of massed transit will have to be kept in mind; and, finally, every settled area in the community will need to be assured of an orderly, scheduled system of communication. That such operating problems can be resolved through timing and co-ordination there is no reason to doubt. The point now will be to reach agreement on the type of service which will do the job adequately.

Economy Works Two Ways

MUNICIPALITIES all over the country will welcome the decision of Canada's "big three" automobile manufacturers to enter the "economy car" field immediately. The announcement from Ottawa this week indicated that the enlargement of variety in designs is in deference to the wishes of an increasing proportion of the motoring public for smaller cars more economical to operate and easier to handle in traffic.

Economy of space, however, is also important, and much more so to the public parking authorities. It is the length almost as much as the increasing number of automobiles which is causing trouble for local bodies, and none can escape it. Where not so long ago the parking problem was thought to be confined to the big cities, today it reaches into villages and hamlets. It is the chief factor in the decentralization of business, causing anxiety to long established traders and fears for their tax revenues to city councils.

Yet while the problem of where to put all the cars has been becoming more and more serious, the stylists of the industry have gone on increasing the length of the cars turned out by North American factories by adding to the front and rear overhang to the point where two cars take up more space than three would have needed not long ago. This has also slowed the movement of traffic, because the longer the cars the fewer the streets can accommodate.

Adding medium-sized cars to the models produced in Canada will not eliminate the problem of length because it has been building up for too long, but it should ease the pressure a little. The industry will probably find the buying public receptive, for the demand for smaller cars has been self-evident. Up to now the automobile industry of North America has left it to British and European manufacturers to satisfy that demand; but the harmful effect of that policy on domestic production latterly has been too marked to be ignored any longer. In this breakaway the industry in Canada is merely following America's lead once again.

Fresh Inspiration

IN choosing Mr. Ray Perrault as its new leader the B.C. Liberal party rejected the bid of a still young but experienced legislator and turned to an untried but fresh source for its inspiration. On the face of it this might seem surprising, but several factors would be operative. Mr. Perrault is a protégé of Mr. Arthur Laing, the former leader, and the influence of the latter obviously is not spent. There would be mainland sentiment in his support, also, as against Island persuasion. Mr. Perrault has in addition been the party organizer for the past year and thus has had the chance to build strength among local groups.

It was noticeable of course that Mr. George Gregory of this city, the Liberals' able House leader in recent years, did not try very hard for the party leadership. There have been occasions in the recent past when this distinction might have been his for the asking had he pursued such ambition actively. Instead he was on record as declining. His entry into competition at the convention last week was itself half-hearted, and only after he had pressed his House colleague, Mr. Archie Gibbs, to bid for the leadership. Taken together these would suggest Mr. Gregory was not too anxious for the post. Undoubtedly that told against him.

The new leader is very young, only 33 years of age, but patently is bent on a political career. This will give him the drive and enthusiasm needed if he is to restore Liberal fortunes in this province. He is now calling on Liberals to "come back home," a plain recognition that many of them left the party to espouse the Socreds. With only two elected seats in the Legislature his cause might seem hopeless except that the Liberals polled enough votes at the last election to encourage his hopes. The revival of federal Conservative influence has to be faced, however, as well as the stronger position of the Socreds and the CCF party. It looks as though Mr. Perrault will require all his enthusiasm to succeed where Mr. Laing failed.

Interpreting the News

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Correspondent

PASVEH, Iran (AP) — Thousands of Kurd tribesmen have fled across the rugged northwest Iranian frontier from Iraq rather than submit to domination by a pro-Communist chieftain.

There was sharp fighting in the frontier area when about 5,000 Kurds crossed into Iran. Others of the tribe have fled into Turkey.

This information comes from Amir Aly Ashehara, the head khan landlord of a huge area occupied by Kurds of the Mamash tribe. He owns this village and about 150 other Kurdish villages in the southwestern part of Iran near the Iraqi border.

The Kurds, under a leader identified as Sheikh Raschid, left 15 Barzani tribesmen dead after a fight with them and the Iraqi gendarmes. The man said Raschid lost two dead and had two wounded. The Barzanis are followers of Mullah Mustafa Barzani, who spent a dozen years in exile in the Soviet Union after an abortive attempt to establish a satellite Kurdistan in Iran, Iraq and Turkey.

The khan said Sheikh Raschid's people lacked sufficient ammunition to continue the battle and had to flee. He said the 1,000 refugee families now live in tent settlements not far from here.

Apparently many Kurds preceded Raschid's people across the frontier in a migration which began soon after the Iraqi revolution last July. This country is so rugged, vast and under-populated that it is easy for Kurds to lose themselves in it.

Amir Aly is fiercely anti-Communist and says all his people are too. He says the Russians have no chance to promote another Kurdish uprising as they did 13 years ago, when Barzani with Russian backing tried to set up an independent Kurdistan in northern Iraq and Iran. Barzani's revolt was crushed, but he and thousands of his followers escaped to the Soviet Union.

FUNNY the things film does. They read a book, are intrigued by it, visualize it as a picture, and buy it. Then they make a film that bears little if any resemblance to the written story that captured their imagination. You would wonder why they bought the film rights, except that the author's name and a best-selling title is what they are after.

I thought of this anew as I read of the new film version of "The Thirty-Nine Steps." It seems to follow precisely the pattern of the Robert Donat film of some years ago, with Kenneth More playing the part of Richard Hannay. For me this personable young actor could never be the Hannay who foiled the Black Stone gang, and in later stories, undertook all sorts of adventures. Mr. More lacks the weight of character to fill his shoes.

This of course is the disadvantage of seeing a film after having read its book story and formed one's own mental image of the characters involved. Seldom does a film live up to one's conception. This can work in reverse also, so that when reading a story after seeing its film counterpart one fits the film actors into the written pages. Better however to see the film first than vice versa, and no doubt to those who see this second version of "The Thirty-Nine Steps" for the first time it will seem a satisfying enough film. For one thing, I understand it shows scenery of the Trossachs and that should draw some audiences.

When he wrote this thrilling "shocker," as he called it—the romance where the incidents defy the probabilities and march just inside the bounds of the possible—Buchan was not writing a travel guide, however, but a story of suspense and peril. He set it in the wilds of Gallows, where the locale suited his racy pen and the tense atmosphere of his story.

Except for its title the Donat film was utterly unlike the real Hannay story and apparently the more versions copied the first film. They have taken the title off the book and then thrown the book away. Buchan was said to have been pleased with the original film, but it must have been with his tongue in his cheek and his eye on the royalties.

Buchan had the temerity, of course, to write a story without a woman in it, which is a grievous affront to moviedom at any time. There must be room for a heroine, preferably a blonde who will divert the hero from his serious moments. Hannay had no time during the desperate flight from the Black Stone to be bothered with a girl, no matter how blonde she was. He wasn't much for the opposite sex, anyway, not until a later book and then without too much romantic ado.

In the result naturally the Hannay story is wholly recast to provide a heroine. What a Buchan addict misses is the pulsating suspense and ingenuity of incident that makes all the Hannay stories top-notchers of their kind.

In "The Thirty-Nine Steps" as Buchan wrote it, for instance, a succession of hair-raising events pile one on the other with breathless speed. The film version is pallid compared to the original and why producers don't sense the difference I shall never know. The moment when Hannay blows himself up with the gelignite to escape his captors, or the denouement on the chalk cliffs of Kent; these two incidents alone are far more dramatic than anything the film contains.

Letter from London

Sentimentality Over a Murderer

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

ONE of the most characteristic traits of the British is, I suppose, sympathy for the under-dog and, to a lesser extent, for the person in a spot of bother; but there are exceptions to the rule. Those of us whose business has taken us at one time or another to murder trials, places of execution and the like, are apt to get a little bit befuddled by what showmen call public reaction.

On a bright May morning a young hoodlum was executed at Pentonville Prison for the murder of a London policeman—not even a "decent" murder, for it was a literal stab in the back while the constable was stopping a teddy-bear fight. The young man had a criminal record, drank excessively and worked occasionally. He was, bluntly, a typical post-war hoodlum who had high hopes of being a big shot in the crime world. Now he is dead and buried within the prison walls. His execution was humane, death was instantaneous. The constable who was murdered suffered agony before he died.

Yet on the morning of the execution there were riots outside the prison. The Home Secretary who refused to recommend a reprieve has been branded by some socialist members of parliament as inhuman. Some of the other prisoners in Pentonville staged a demonstration on the night before the execution and have been given disciplinary penalties.

Another extraordinary sidelight is that some pormally responsible newspapers seem to think that he should have been reprieved—mainly because he was probably drunk when he struck the fatal blow, or because they had the idea that parliament was not really serious when the death penalty was retained for the murder of policemen in the execution of their duty.

There are plenty of arguments for the complete abolition of capital punishment, but it is extraordinary that when a democratic parliament has decided to abolish it for all practical purposes except for the murder of police officers, prison warders and certain other murders—as when evading arrest after committing a crime and so on—this particular case should have aroused such a wave of sentimentality and slush. One of the reasons, it seems, is that the hoodlum had married a decent and reasonably intelligent girl. The policeman who died and his relatives are forgotten.

Yet there have been other cases where men have been charged with assaults on small girls where the police have had to protect them from hostile crowds quite capable of a lynching. It is a primitive and understandable emotion—rather like the protest of prisoners in Pentonville. One can understand that they would approve in principle of the elimination of policemen. What is so difficult to understand is the crowd of a thousand or more yelling outside the prison gates. It has been said that the young murderer would have heard the shouts in his short walk to the scaffold, which surely would have been unnecessarily distressing, even though silence followed.

Since the execution we have heard all the old arguments about judicial murder, the futility of capital punishment, the degradation of the executioner and prison staff—all of which we have heard before. Parliament in its wisdom decided that if a policeman was murdered the death penalty would still apply and this was the first time since the act that it has applied because, mercifully, it is the first time that a policeman has been murdered.

And perhaps Canadian readers need to have it underlined that our policemen are not armed. There were no extenuating circumstances. It was not, for example, the case of a trigger-happy cop trying to stop a traffic violation, or shooting at someone whom he thought might be guilty of something or other. There was not a tittle of evidence that the constable was even being a trifle enthusiastic. On the contrary the constable did not even see his assailant—he was stabbed in the back, which most of us regard as pretty foul metaphorically, let alone literally.

Business Is Business

Pounds Before Loyalty

From The Calgary Albertan

CANADIANS should be grateful to U.K. Trade Commissioner Kenneth McGregor for once again reminding them that the "business is business" attitude prevails just as strongly in matters of international trade as it does in any other field of commerce.

Mr. McGregor is reported to have said in Vancouver that if the price is right then Britain will trade with Russia rather than with Commonwealth countries—that the U.K. would definitely "put pounds before loyalty to the Commonwealth."

There is nothing startling in what Mr. McGregor said. Perhaps it hasn't been put in words quite as bluntly as that before, but even the haziest knowledge of Britain's history reminds one that its success as a trading nation has been built on a sound commercial basis and not on sentiment.

A good deal of difficulty which Canada has in visualizing Canadian-U.K. trade arises from the notion that Britain is the "traditional" market for so many Canadian products. Ignored is the fact that this "traditional" market grew up not out of any special loyalty to Canada on Britain's part but simply because Canada could supply high-quality products at lower prices than any one else. When Canada can no longer compete with prices offered by some other country it loses the British market.

The whole matter is as simple as that. The pattern of British trade has confirmed the fact that neither Canada, the Commonwealth nor even the Western world is accorded any special consideration. As Mr. McGregor noted, the Russians have the potential to start an economic war and disrupt the world market. "But at the moment our trading relations are extremely satisfactory. We will continue to trade with Russia if they have something to offer us."

Surely in the face of the facts, and Mr. McGregor's frank statements, Canadian politicians and officials should cease prefacing remarks about Canadian-British trade with dreary sentiments about the "strong ties that bind us to the Mother Country" and similar nonsense.

Canadian trade, with Britain or any other country, is a matter of business—hard bargaining, competing prices, top quality and assured delivery. There's no room for sentiment and there is in fact, no sentiment in international trade.

The emotion created at the time was extraordinary—one of those intangible qualities which make Britons so difficult for foreigners to understand. It would almost appear that we value hoodlums and murderers more than policemen. The protestors were, of course, a noisy minority.

A foreigner outside Pentonville on the morning of the execution might, however, have regarded even more strange a little fundamentally British cameo enacted there.

"Why hang him? He only murdered a cop!" shouted one of the demonstrators.

A constable approached him and he repeated it even louder.

"Now move on or keep quiet or you'll be in trouble," said the constable.

The demonstrator moved on.

Would that have happened anywhere else? It would not have happened if I had been the constable in question.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THE curious truth is that while tens of thousands of people are now going into the wilds for recreation for every hundred who went as recently as 25 years ago, they are actually not going into the wilds at all. Deprive them of their motor cars, outboard engines, gasoline stoves and other appurtenances of roughing it in the bush, and tens of thousands of them would stay right home.

Some weeks ago the Packsack referred to the possibility that our statesmen are not talking through their hats when they mention nuclear war and the spectacle of millions of people fleeing desperately in all directions in search of survival, bereft of all civilized means of survival.

A considerable number of letters have come to the Packsack asking for the titles of books that deal with camping and woodcraft from which might be learned the elementary principles of surviving in non-civilized circumstances. There are several classics, such as Horace Kephart's "Camping and Woodcraft," published years ago before there was any notion of necessity. Then there is our own Canadian Paul Provencher's "I Live in the Woods"; and since Provencher, during the late war, taught our commando troops the tricks of the wilderness, his book is therefore up-to-date.

Last year there was published "The New Way of the Wilderness" by Calvin Rutstrum, a wilderness camper famed all through the middle-west States and northern Canada for his expeditions and his teaching ability in this field. His new book, with plentiful illustrations, is unique in that it is both comprehensible and interesting even to the softest of city slickers.

Poor TV Coverage

The Victoria Day parade was very good this year, as it has been in the past, but the parade I saw in the morning, and the one I saw on CHEK in the evening were very nearly two different parades. If I had not seen the parade in person, I would have assumed it was a very poor parade from CHEK's telecasting of it.

There are a lot of people in the Victoria area who were unable to attend the parade for one reason or another. CHEK, which is supposedly giving news coverage to the people of Victoria, owes it to these same people to give a good coverage of a parade of this nature.

This is Victoria's big celebration. In other cities, where they have a TV station, they show complete coverage of their big parades, live. In my opinion, for the benefit of these people who cannot attend parades, CHEK should provide a live telecast, or if this is not possible due to insufficient equipment or network commitments, then it should be filmed in its entirety and presented when network commitments allow.

In the past, CHEK has come on the air early to present various important happenings and I see no reason why this could not be done in this instance.

High Cost of Gardening

In order to protect one of my shrubs from the dogs, I decided to purchase a 10-foot strip of poultry netting, 24 inches wide, from a well-known Victoria firm. The 10 feet of netting cost me 55 cents which was all right; but I was charged 50 cents to cut the 24-inch width. It took the employee barely one minute to do this cutting, so if my calculation is correct he would be earning $30 an hour for his firm. This is, no doubt, hard to believe, but I have the invoice to prove it.

Potential Menace

On Interurban Road between Viaduct Road bus terminal and Glendower exists a potential menace to all pedestrians and drivers.

In the past 5 1/2 years, since coming here to live, there have been seven accidents involving vehicles which have run off the road, not all reported to police. The last two accidents, both in the past month and the latest of a truck load of army personnel, have involved serious injuries—the latter so very close to a high-tension power pole.

Traffic has increased greatly and in its speed. There are a number of children walking and riding bicycles daily to and from school—as well as great logging trucks piled high with logs, using this busy thoroughfare.

Must someone get killed or maimed for life before the road is widened and steep banks filled in?

Faster Than Usual

Jobless Picture Better by 80,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian employment in April stepped up at a faster-than-usual pace while the jobless dropped off by 80,000.

The government reported today that at April 18 there were 445,000 unemployed compared with 525,000 a month earlier and 5,664,000 with jobs against 5,552,000 in March.

It was the third successive month of rising employment for Canada since unemployment hit the winter high of 538,000 in January.

The post-war peak of unemployment was 597,000 in March of last year. The April unemployment figure for this year was 77,000 below that of April, 1958.

Those with jobs in April numbered 127,000 more than a year earlier.

Besides these bureau of statistics estimates, the government released figures showing that at April 16 there were 733,729 persons registered for work with National Employment Service compared with 795,547 the previous month and 811,719 a year previously.

The employment service figures contain an unknown proportion of persons changing from job to job. The bureau estimates are based on a monthly sampling of 30,000 households.

The government described the increase in employment between March and April as "significantly greater" than the normal improvement for this time of year.

Civic Probe In Brandon

WINNIPEG (CP)—A judicial inquiry into allegations that Mayor James Creighton of Brandon acted improperly in connection with city property transactions likely will open in the western Manitoba city June 23.

The Brandon real estate board filed a petition calling for the inquiry on the basis of an alleged business relationship between Mr. Creighton and Brandon realtor Norman White.

Mr. White arranged options on property in Brandon for a Winnipeg development firm while working out of an office operated by Creighton Agencies—an insurance and real estate company owned by the mayor.

Court Believes Revenge Story

Boy, 10, Searches 10 Years, Kills Fascist Murderer

TEL AVIV, Israel (Reuters)—An Israeli who saw his family murdered in a Romanian concentration camp and spent 10 years tracking down their killer, finally shot him to death when they both were fighting in the French Foreign Legion.

Elihu Itzkovitch told the story of his relentless pursuit to a military court here which tried him for desertion.

The court, releasing his evidence Wednesday, said it believed his story and sentenced him to a year's imprisonment, which he now has served.

This was the story: After the wartime massacre of his father, mother and three brothers, Itzkovitch, then 10 years old, was smuggled out of the camp and hidden by a Christian Romanian family.

NO OTHER THOUGHT

"When Romania had been liberated, I had no other thought except revenge."

His search for the murderer, a local Fascist leader, led him to the man's son, whom he wounded in a knife fight—a crime which landed him in a Romanian reform school for five years.

In 1952, he emigrated to Israel and a year later was called up for military service.

FINALLY NEWS

A new batch of immigrants from Romania told him the man he sought was serving in the French Foreign Legion.

He requested a transfer from the army to the Israeli navy and at the first opportunity deserted his ship, crossed from Italy into France and joined the Legion. Patient questioning revealed which unit his quarry was serving in.

Itzkovitch promptly got a transfer to that unit.

BATTLE RAGES

The unit was sent to Indochina to fight the Communists and the revenge came at the height of a battle.

"I shot him as he deserved to be shot," Itzkovitch said. His victim was taken to a war casualty.

His mission ended, Itzkovitch deserted the legion, returned to Israel and gave himself up.

Skindiver Saved, Search Stalled

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—RCMP called a temporary halt in a search for a car which plunged into the Similkameen River Friday night after a Toronto skindiver's offer to help almost ended in tragedy.

The diver, Ken Roberts, lost his helmet and part of his aqualung gear when the river's swift current swept him against a bridge abutment under water. He managed to keep his mouthpiece in place and gradually worked his way to the surface.

Roberts and another Toronto diver, Robert Gemmell, entered the water to look for a car which was seen plunging into the river 20 miles east of here, with two unidentified persons inside.

Oakes' Killer Close Friend?

NASSAU, Bahamas (UPI)—Governor-General Sir Oswald Raynor Arthur is expected to give quick signature to a bill passed unanimously by the legislature asking that the unsolved 17-year-old Sir Harry Oakes murder case be reopened.

The bill was introduced by MLA Cyril Stevenson, editor of the Nassau Herald, who said that, on the basis of new evidence, "I could point my finger at the man responsible" for the murder.

"I am prepared to say Oakes was killed by one of his close friends who drank with him several hours before the murder," he said. "I had expected opposition, but obviously they felt it would be like they were trying to protect someone."

Among those voting for the bill was H.C. Christie, a house guest of Oakes the night Sir Harry's body was found.

Bingo

The provincial cabinet moved yesterday to get tough with bingo operators who refuse to pay the Hospital Construction Aid Tax.

Two orders-in-council were approved yesterday aimed specifically at the Mount Pleasant 177, Lions Gate 79 and West Point Grey 142 Canadian Legion branches which the government says have consistently refused to collect the tax on bingo games.

WONT PAY

These three branches account for one-half, or $150,000, of the yearly total of bingo tax proceeds and they refuse to pay, a government spokesman said.

The refusal to pay has been before the courts for more than one year and the Legion branches have been able to persuade the courts they are not places of amusement.

ORDER PASSED

But yesterday the cabinet passed an order designating them places of amusement from May 8, 1957, to May 19, 1959, and another order amending the definition of places of amusement to include "any premises or place used by a group or club, society, organization, operator or person for any game or contest, including the game commonly known as bingo, whether or not admission is open to the public or is restricted to members."

When you order a suit in Hong Kong, Ald. Arthur Dowell has learned, you get fast service.

The Victoria alderman returned yesterday from a 10-week tour of the Orient, wearing a smart tropical suit.

It grew very hot on the trip, he said, and he finally decided to get a really light-weight suit. He went to a tailor in Hong Kong about 3 p.m. one afternoon to be measured. The suit was ready next evening.

'Women know what women want'

At least, they guess better in the house-selling business. How do the ladies make out in this game? Read the intriguing article in this week's Star Weekly and see how yet another once all-male preserve is losing out to the female invasion.

Also in this week's Star Weekly read "What makes teenagers rebel?"; and the illustrated color section on the new small cars.

"I believe there is a chance he may tell the truth about what happened," she said, "especially about the death of my family." Her mother, father and baby half-sister were the first victims of the 10-killing spree.

725 Leaving School, 2,000 Start Soon

Greater Victoria school board got a look at some future problems this week when elementary school enrolments were compared with numbers of students graduating from local high schools. School superintendent John Gough said a record number of about 2,000 children is expected to register for Grade before September. He said present 1,762 prospective pupils have registered, and at least 200 more are expected. Another 1,052 have been registered for kindergarten. By comparison, said Mr. Gough, about 725 students will take part in graduation exercises at five local high schools on June 5.

The beech tree is the most common species among woods and forests of Denmark.

SIR ARTHUR CONAN DOYLE ... Holmes his monument

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Mickey Rooney announced shortly after being divorced by his fourth wife, Elaine Meanken, that he plans to marry Barbara Thomson, a 22-year-old beauty contest winner "in a year and a day."

In the Fog, Holmes Lives Again

Author Tried to Kill Him But Public Forced Return

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Walk down Baker Street on a winter night when yellow fog muffles the sounds of London and even the most familiar things take on sinister shapes.

Stop and listen to the clop-clop of hooves. A milkman and his horse? Nonsense! It could be nothing else but a hansom cab bringing a terrified client to the doorstep of the greatest detective who ever lived.

The master sleuth, Sherlock Holmes, has become one of those oddities of literature, the character of fiction brought so vividly to life that he overshadows his creator, Sir Conan Doyle.

Sir Arthur, born 100 years ago next Friday, was a writer, doctor, spiritualist, athlete, romanticist, patriot, adventurer, philanthropist, lecturer, champion of the downtrodden—a man larger than life. Yet with all these, his fictional Holmes is his monument.

"When my father tried to kill off Holmes at the Reichenbach Falls," recalls Doyle's charming daughter, Group Officer Jean Conan Doyle of the Women's RAF, "letters of protest poured into his home."

Holmes bored his creator, she says, but when he sought to do away with Holmes there was nationwide alarm.

Although neither Holmes nor 221 Baker Street, the master sleuth's magic address, ever existed, letters still are mailed to him there from all over the world.

Doyle, creator of the legend, was an Irishman born in Edinburgh, Scotland. He studied medicine at Edinburgh University and there he met the singular Dr. Joseph Bell—the man whose classroom manners were the basis of Sherlock Holmes' methods of detection.

DR. WATSON

Dr. Watson probably was drawn—at least in name—from one of Doyle's friends at Southsea, England, Dr. James Watson.

More and more Doyle turned to his pen, finally deciding to write a detective story.

He turned out "A Study in Scarlet," the first Holmes story in 1886. The first big hit was "The Sign of Four," making its bow in 1890.

In 1891 Doyle abandoned medicine to live by the pen. He had many editorial irons in the fire and Sherlock Holmes occupied less and less of his attention. But the editors knew what Doyle didn't—that he had a magic formula in Sherlock — and they insisted upon more and more stories.

During the last years of his life, Doyle drove himself unsparingly in the cause of spiritualism and brought much criticism on himself, but he never abandoned his belief in it. (His son, now a resident of Switzerland, says he is "regularly in touch" with his father through the medium of spiritualism.)

In July, 1930, he died peacefully at his country home, Conan Doyle had gone—but his creation, Sherlock Holmes, may live forever.

Justice Flash Only Surprise On Formful Racing Program

VANCOUVER (CP)—It was favorite's day at Exhibition Park Wednesday as only one long-shot came home in front in the fourth day of racing.

Justice Flash, a five-year-old bay mare carrying 116 pounds, scored a surprisingly easy victory in the fourth race for three-year-olds and up foaled in Canada. Ridden by Joe Webster, Justice Flash won by three lengths over Ab's Belle. The favorite—Pacific Queen—was third.

Justice Flash, owned and trained by W. T. Squelch of Vancouver, paid $21.50, $8.10 and $3.50.

Easy victories by Magic Gold in the first and Didn't I Mike in the second produced a daily double of $44 on a $2 outlay. Both won by two lengths.

Dos Domingo to Flying Flute returned a quinella of $10.60.

Racing resumes on Friday.

"Smoothest road car of them all"

2133 Ferndale Rd., RR #5, Victoria, B.C. April 20th, 1959
General Motors Products of Canada, Limited, Oshawa, Ontario.
Gentlemen:
I have been a regular purchaser of Buick Motor Cars for the past 28 years and in that time have owned 8 Buicks, two- and four-door sedans. Early this year I purchased a LESABRE Convertible with full Power equipment and let me say, with easy Power Steering and very smooth acting Power Brakes I find this Buick the easiest handling, parking and the SMOOTHEST ROAD CAR OF THEM ALL. The operating costs are encouraging too.

Yours very truly,

Vic High's Best

Strong candidates for top honors in next week's annual inter-high school track and field meet are these four Victoria High School athletes, aggregate champions at their school's inter-house meet which

Yankees in League Basement For First Time in 10 Years

New York Yankees hit bottom yesterday, the first time in 10 years that they have trailed at this stage of the season and the first time they have ever been in last place in 10 seasons under the management of Casey Stengel.

And they hit it with a resounding thump, taking a 13-6 pasting from Detroit Tigers in a game in which the score, bad as it was, flattered the defending American League champions.

Boston	17	19	.469	7 1/2
Detroit	13	20	.394	10 1/2
New York	13	20	.394	10 1/2

The Tigers, held scoreless for four innings by Bobby Shantz, suddenly came to life to pound five pitchers to wind up with 19 hits which included three home runs, a triple and two doubles. And the Yankees helped no end by giving up bases on balls, making two errors and adding a passed ball for good measure. They looked awful.

GRAND-SLAM VICTIMS

Yogi Berra, starting in the outfield, put the Yankees ahead with a two-run homer in the first inning. But the Tigers tied it in the fifth, took a 5-2 lead in the sixth, then added the final humiliation with a six-run burst in the seventh, climaxed by Eddie Yost's grand-slam home run.

... lost 'that bravery'

Frank Lary, now 185 against his favorite foe, eased up a bit in the ninth and Berra's second homer of the game and Mickey Mantle's sixth of the season accounted for the final four runs.

Now eight and a half games out of the lead, the Yanks have lost seven of their last 10 games and trail the Tigers by seven percentage points.

LEADERS GAIN

Meanwhile, Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox pulled a bit further ahead of the field.

Herb Score, with relief help from rookie Jim Perry, gave the Indians a 5-2 win over Washington Senators although yielding a 15th home run to Harmon Killebrew, now the major league leader in four-base hits. Rocky Colavito kept up his great hitting by batting in two Cleveland runs with a double and single.

BRAVES STOPPED

In the National League, Hank Aaron resumed his thumping after having his batting streak broken at 22 games by connecting for his 12th home run. But the Milwaukee Braves had their win streak snapped at six when the San Francisco Giants, led by Felipe Alou's three runs batted in, grabbed a 6-3 win.

St. Louis Cardinals kept coming with an 11-1 rout of Pittsburgh Pirates, routing Bob Friend in a six-run second inning. It was the seventh loss for the still-winless Friend, a 22-game winner last year.

Philadelphia Phils lost their eighth game in a row, Chicago Cubs keeping up their climb with a 7-5 win. Ernie Banks

Tie with Halecos Puts Royals Ahead

Last night's score: New Westminster 1, Halecos 1.

Next game: Saturday—VICTORIA vs. Halecos at Vancouver; Sunday—Continental vs. Labatts at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER—New Westminster Royals grabbed the lead in the Pacific Coast Soccer League last night by playing to a 1-1 draw with Halecos before about 1,200 fans at Callister Park.

Result left Halecos tied with Carlings, one point behind Royals, and the other three clubs in a fourth-place tie, two points behind the leaders.

Royals took the lead after seven minutes when fullback Alex MacKay converted a penalty kick, awarded when Logan Tait handled.

UP TO OLD TRICKS

Halecos, whose sturdy defence has conceded but four goals in four games, held an edge in play but poor shooting cost them the other point—that and another brilliant display of goaltending by Pears, who will tend the nets for the B.C. All-Stars against West Bromwich Albion on June 1.

In a holiday game Monday, Labatts scored the biggest upset of the season when they trimmed Carlings, 6-1.

The shift of Jim Wood from wing-half to an inside position turned out to be a brilliant move for Labatts. The former English player fed his forwards a stream of passes all through the game. John Halley converted four of them and Bruce Ashdown clicked twice. Normie McLeod got Carlings' lone goal.

Tame Rocks Turn Tigers To Whip Champs, 17-9

Esquimalt Winner

Lanky Darryl McIntyre heads for the finish line in the 440 dash yesterday to collect one of his two firsts in the track events on the way to the senior boys' aggregate championship in annual inter-house track and field meet at Esquimalt High School. Cosmos Win Again; Triple Play Helps Cosmopolitans ran their unbeaten Pony League streak to four games Wednesday by downing Mawson-Gage 9-6, with the help of a triple play.

The side-retiring play came in the fourth inning with Cosmopolitans trailing, 5-4. With runners on second and third, Mawson-Gage's Wayne Carson smashed a hard drive towards second base. Second-sacker Neil Ramsay came up with a spectacular leaping catch, stepped on second to double up the nearest runner and fired to third-baseman Jeff Yeun to get the third out.

Suddenly, Victoria Shamrocks had jelled, and they looked like the hottest thing in lacrosse.

A motley group of veterans and untested rookies turned without warning into a goal-hungry unit and picked on New Westminster O'Keefe's for a 17-9 decision that gave the Shamrocks their first victory of the Inter-City Lacrosse League season and provided a crowd of 1,752 at Memorial Arena with enough good lacrosse to make them forget the three-game losing streak that preceded it.

One game doesn't make a lacrosse team, and the Rocks still have a long way to go. But for last night at least they were the Shamrocks of old, running roughshod over the inept and stumbling Mann Cup champions.

It's hard to say for certain what made the difference, but a great deal of the credit would have to go to Whitey Severson, who returned to action at his play-making best, and goalie George Johnston.

George was having one of those super-special Johnston nights when he is virtually unbeatable, and his great play in the first quarter got the Shamrocks over the hump the only time they trailed in the game.

Severson scored two goals, set up three more with his pin-point passing, and made the Severson-Bert Berto-Ron Jay unit the most dangerous on the floor.

But it was a team victory all the way, with everyone coming through at the right moments. Jay was running better than he has all year. Johnston was roving away from his net with the poise of a Jacques Plante and Tom Druce came through with two goals early in the fourth quarter when O'Keefe's had fired three quick ones to make it 11-7 with less than four minutes gone.

There was also Tom Collett. Give him half a step, and he is gone. O'Keefe's found that out when he followed Druce with two goals of his own on alert breakaways. He finished the night with three.

Determined checking and continual hustle were the watchwords for the Irish, who go to New Westminster tonight to try for a repeat performance. They were behind, 2-1, early in the game, but tied it up before the first quarter ended and never stopped moving.

It was 7-4 at the half and 11-4 after three quarters. When O'Keefe's got their three in a hurry, the Rocks refused to crack and came back stronger than ever.

Rocks were up against a team that is suffering in no uncertain terms. The defending-champions looked out of their depth from the start, and have now lost four straight after trouncing Nanaimo Labatts, 22-8, in their opening game.

Sandra Smith was yesterday's top angler, weighing in a 20-pound, 13-ounce spring salmon which gave her, temporarily at least, the third rung. She caught it while fishing in the Goldstream end of Saanich Inlet.

John Rose, Tom Ord, Gwilym Evans and Gordon Aaronson were the others to get rungs, entering salmon between 10 pounds, 11 ounces and 17 1/4 pounds.

Ladder standings after last night's entries:

1-Mervin Campbell 28-8
2-Sandra Smith 20-13

3-John Rose 17-14
4-Tom Ord 16-13
5-Gordon Aaronson 15-12
6-Gwilym Evans 14-11
7-John Rose 13-10
8-Tom Ord 12-9
9-Gordon Aaronson 11-8
10-Gwilym Evans 10-7
11-John Rose 9-6
12-Tom Ord 8-5
13-Gordon Aaronson 7-4
14-Gwilym Evans 6-3
15-John Rose 5-2
16-Tom Ord 4-1
17-Gordon Aaronson 3-0
18-Gwilym Evans 2-0
22-Gwilym Evans 0-0

Only Jack Bionda could do anything right against the Shamrocks. While the crowd poured abuse on him at his every move, he scored three goals and set up three more with the passing that has helped make him the greatest star in the game.

But when Bionda wasn't on the floor, O'Keefe's was in trouble. There was no one else on Jake Proctor's club that could move the ball with any consistency, and even the fact that the club was without Ken Oddy and Cliff and Don Sepka, doesn't excuse the poor calibre of play.

Stan Joseph made 38 saves, but the Indian who has ruined the Rocks so many times, was a wooden Indian last night. He wasn't getting down to block the shots, and the Rocks coolly picked the corners and rolled the ball past him.

Blistering Attack Levelled at DCA By Alberta Curler

EDMONTON, (CP) — The Dominion Curling Association was criticized last night by the retiring president of the Alberta Curling Association who said the governing body is run by old men who do not represent active curlers.

Cliff Lee, speaking at the Dominion group's annual meeting, said the DCA set-up "needs major revamping to gear it to the curling to-morrow, much less today."

The Alberta association turned down the Dominion association's suggested code of ethics which would define professionalism in the sport.

Lee said the Dominion association does not represent active curlers of today because of the "peculiar practice of making honorary members of each retiring president and appointing old-timers, for honorary reasons, as life members at the rate of two or three a year."

"They all have votes," he said. Of the 23 present at the pre-general meeting gathering in March at Quebec City, 15 were there on life memberships. At the general meeting there were 16 life members and officials along with 22 others.

"The oldtimers needed only three votes from the other group to have things their own way," Lee said. "I feel these men could cause a great deal of despair with their trend of thought, especially towards subjects pertaining to the improvement of the game in Canada," he added.

The Alberta association said the Dominion body's suggested rules of amateur eligibility are unrealistic and unacceptable.

Lee said the rules are an example of the DCA's "ridiculous thinking." Top curlers such as Matt Baldwin, Herb Olson and others who have been barred from DCA-sanctioned events which include the Dominion championship.

King Fisherman

First Month's Entry Featured by Quality

There may have been a certain lack of quantity as regards fishing so far this month but the quality has been there. Anglers have been getting a good percentage of "big ones." At least it's going to take a pretty fair sort of a fish this month to win one of the 25 crests offered in each division of the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest.

Latest entries show some more potential crest-winners in the trout, small-mouth black bass and spring salmon divisions.

May has been featured by a larger-than-usual number of large trout and the guess at the moment is that it will take something more than two pounds to win a crest. D. W. Clarke, with a five-pounder taken from Buttle Lake, and Neil Webb, with a four-pound, 10-ounce fish taken from Cowichan Lake, moved near the top. Al McPhee of Lake Cowichan, who plucks his share of big trout out of his "home" waters, also entered a four-pound, 10-ounce fish but he had earlier assured himself of a crest with a six-pound, five-and-a-quarter ounce trout.

Latest entries also brought in some more big bass, five of them four or more pounds and a number in the three-pound class. Here, too, it is likely to take something over two pounds to win a crest.

A 20-pounder may not be big enough to win a spring-salmon crest, 16 anglers already having entered fish of more than 20 pounds.

a new, exciting tropical touch

easy, exotic Hawaiian feasting right in your own home!

No need to go to Hawaii to enjoy a "Luau" — you can have one right at home. All the foods you need are at SUPER-VALU.

Hawaiian Luau's are fun — serve the dishes on the grass, the floor or table following the Hawaiian custom of covering the surface with leaves or ferns. Set the table informally with wooden or colored paper dishes. Invite your guests to be comfortable in casual attire—aloha shirts, flowery "mu-mu's."

'Took Friends from Me'

Jealous Coed Chops Chum

SWANNANOVA, N.C. (UPI) — A plump college coed in a self-described "jealous rage" over losing her friends battered her former roommate almost to death with a hatchet in a dormitory early yesterday.

"Yes, it was in a jealous rage" that she slashed the girl with the two-foot-long hatchet, Miss Dennis said. She was held in Buncombe county jail at Asheville on an open charge pending the outcome of Miss Watterson's condition.

Hospital attendants in Asheville said Miss Watterson was in "critical" condition. She underwent surgery Wednesday afternoon. A hospital spokesman said "her face is all chopped up. She'll probably have to have plastic surgery—if she gets over it."

Authorities said the hand hatchet left four deep gashes almost in a line from Miss Watterson's left eye to her throat. Another coed, Betty Ferrell, 20, of Orgus, W. Va., narrowly escaped serious injury when she grappled with the Dennis girl over the hatchet.

Many Drivers Flunk Test

HALIFAX (UPI) — More than one-third of the drivers tested for licences in Nova Scotia last year, failed on the first try, Chief Inspector P. H. Hock said yesterday.

An elderly Victorian was bound over in city police court yesterday to keep the peace for six months, following conviction on a charge of pointing a revolver.

Harry Phillips, veteran of the First World War who told the court he was "77½," was found guilty by Magistrate William Ostler of pointing a loaded revolver at Mrs. Rose Leking, then his landlady, last April 23 at 1325 Johnson.

Court was told that Phillips had been drinking for a day or two. Mrs. Leking had reopened it, and found it loaded. Put on the stand by defence counsel Joseph McKenna, Phillips said he'd started to clean the revolver, then slipped it in his pocket.

When he went downstairs to ask for his liquor, he took his hand out of his pocket "and the gun came out with it. I almost dropped it. I didn't point it intentionally."

Under cross-examination by prosecutor Angus Smith, Phillips said, "I didn't mean anything. It was just a little bluff."

TB Patient Got Bettors In Hospital

NEW YORK (AP)—After 19 months in a hospital as a tubercular patient, Robert McKinney, 27, was arrested as a bookmaker, charged with doing a thriving business with other patients. He will face trial after his release from hospital.

Trade with Red Bloc Still Will o' the Wisp

NEW YORK (UPI)—In spite of the Communist bloc's obvious growth, trade with the Red world remains a will o' the wisp for the Western nations most eager to get it. The great Red Chinese trade offensive in Southeast Asia, which caused Japan and Hong Kong and European exporters so much anxiety in 1957 and last year, has dried up almost completely. No more are the Chinese Reds flooding Southeast Asia with fountain pens, clocks, clothing and food products at prices nobody else could meet. Neither are the Chinese buying German machinery and fertilizer, Australian wool, Canadian wheat and many other foreign products as they were in 1957 and 1958.

SHIPS RETURNED

So flat has the Red Chinese trade bubble fallen that the Peiping government has turned back almost half of some 140 foreign ocean ships it had chartered.

Similarly, in spite of Nikita Khrushchev's boasts, Russian trade with the free world has failed to grow as expected. The British, particularly, have been baffled by the way the Russians constantly dangle big trade deals before the British government and business men, then become exasperatingly vague when pressed for concrete offers.

The British don't want such a big volume of trade behind the Iron Curtain that Moscow could put political pressure on London by threatening to cut the trade off.

DEMAND CREDIT

The British say the Russians have exaggerated ideas about how much Soviet goods the British market can absorb and they will not buy more British goods—even when they need them badly—than can be paid for in immediate Soviet exports to Britain, unless the British will give them long, easy credit terms.

Something that puzzles the British is the reluctance of the Russians to pay for imports in gold—for Moscow has at times tried to give the West the impression that Soviet gold production is enormous.

Give Up Ally To Save Talks West Warned

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Financier James P. Warburg said last night that the U.S. must give up West Germany as a military ally if the Geneva conference is to be successful in reuniting East and West Germany.

"I feel certain that both U.S. State Secretary Christian Herter and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan realize that the first step toward German reunification must be the exclusion of a re-united Germany from military alliance with either side," Warburg said.

"I feel equally certain that these two highly intelligent men realize that the next step must be the withdrawal of Soviet coercive power from East Germany and this can be achieved, if at all, only by a gradual, phased and carefully controlled mutual withdrawal of foreign troops from both Germanys."

Store Drops Case Against Dentist

SPOKANE, Wash. — A charge of shoplifting a $4.95 sport shirt was dismissed when the store declined to press a complaint against Dr. Francis N. Stickle, well-known Spokane dentist.

Drumhead Rite Sunday To Honor Gen. Vokes

A drumhead service in honor of his retirement will be performed for Maj. Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding Western Command, by the Victoria No. 25 Militia Group at 2 p.m. Sunday in Beacon Hill Park.

The service will be conducted by Maj. J. L. W. McLean, Senior Protestant chaplain of the group.

Gen. Vokes is making his final inspection of regular and militia units in British Columbia before his retirement from the army on July 1.

On completion of Sunday's service, the Group will be inspected by Gen. Vokes and a farewell march past held. On Monday morning, he will inspect members of the 1st Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, at Work Point Barracks. After lunch, he will inspect the barrack installations.

Prowlers Pay $100 Fines

ALBERNI—Two young men were fined $100 each for an escape at Alberni Residential School Tuesday night. John McDonnell and George L. Rae-Arthur pleaded guilty to loitering or prowling at night. According to information given in court the two had been found in the girls' dormitory and had been ordered off the premises by school authorities. Suspecting that the young men were still in the vicinity, an official of the school called police. Apprehended with McDonnell and Rae-Arthur were Robert Evans, who was charged with

'It Started with Few Drinks'

By CHARLES THOMPSON

DUNCAN—It started with a few drinks among a group of young friends, a party with a couple of Indian Girls and a dance.

Two RCMP constables broke up the party and confiscated some beer that no one would claim as his own.

An hour later, about 1 a.m. on April 13 a year ago, the police returned to the party that had become rowdy. A fight erupted "spontaneously."

Two baseball bats entered the melee. One constable was hospitalized for two weeks and at first it was feared his back was broken when one of the bats was smashed over him as he lay struggling on the ground.

His partner warded off a blow, aimed at his head, that bent the barrel of his service revolver.

And four men ended up with jail terms.

Two are out now and a third is expected to get his "ticket of leave" next month.

The fourth, Richard Harrington Douglas, has so far served more than a year in Oakalla prison's west wing closeted with convicted murderers, dope addicts and others waiting appeal.

Yesterday he was committed for trial to a higher court after an all-day preliminary hearing before Magistrate A. C. Sutton who decided the Crown has "a case to be met."

A year ago, on May 30, he was sentenced to three years in the B.C. Penitentiary by Chemainus Magistrate W. H. Bryant on a charge of causing bodily harm to Const. William Bloxham.

Second Trial Ordered In Beating of RCMP

An appeal was launched and because he could not raise $5,000 bail he was sent to Oakalla.

Magistrate Sutton yesterday set bail at $2,000 cash. The case is expected to come up before County Court Judge L. Arnold Hanna some time next month.

Last month the B.C. Court of Appeal set aside the original conviction and a new trial was ordered. Herbert Maisey, Nanaimo court stenographer, had not made a transcript of the testimony given at Douglas' trial. He died in January.

Magistrate Sutton commented there was no testimony given yesterday that Douglas had struck the constable, but added, "the police are not put on the street to fight with the public."

Const. Bloxham said: "One fellow who was all in black and Douglas came towards me and I backed down the road. (He had already been knocked out twice)."

"I drew my revolver and ordered them to stop. I said I'd shoot if they didn't. One said, 'Go ahead.'

"They were a dozen feet from me I realized I would have to shoot or put the gun away. I put it in the holster."

"They had these objects over their shoulders that looked like baseball bats."

"Next thing I knew I was off the road, on the ground six feet from it. I'd been knocked out and over a retaining wall."

Later, Douglas commented: "It's awful in there (Oakalla west wing.) You're locked in your cell 20 hours a day. A guy hung himself in the cell next to me."

"They let you exercise outside on good days. There's church twice on Sunday, Catholic and Protestant. Believe me, I go to both."

Strauss Passes By Slim Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nomination of Lewis L. Strauss as secretary of commerce squeaked through the Senate commerce committee Tuesday on a 9-to-8 vote.

The fight against him, which President Eisenhower has called mystifying, is expected to resume when Senate approval is asked. It is based on Strauss' actions as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Dear Customer:

Sometimes a new product marks such a departure from former concepts that its very introduction is important news. 'Ultima' by Revlon is such a product. Here is the first rich nutrient cream with such a fine, light texture that it breaks away entirely from the old tradition of thick and messy "spreads."

You see, as you get older, you can actually stretch your skin with heavy, greasy creams because you have to drag and pull when you apply them. They're hard to absorb, too. And if a great deal "sits" on the surface, there's less working inside. But 'Ultima' is feather-soft—and so quickly absorbed it starts to act almost instantly.

This precious blend of rare beauty oils and newly discovered nutrients is formulated to leave your skin looking healthier, smoother, younger than it has in years.

Try it yourself—while our introductory Specials last. We have a limited number available at only 2.50, 12.50, 20.00.

Hungarian Vanishes Here, Leaving Money Behind

City police are wondering what became of a Hungarian immigrant who speaks little English and who disappeared March 26 leaving his money behind.

Istvan Jukasz, 43, was rooming at 1045 Balmoral, and was employed by contractor Wayne Dickason, of 690 Snowdrop Avenue, Saanich, up to the time of his disappearance.

The contractor told police Mr. Jukasz never cashed his last pay cheque. Mr. Jukasz also left a sum of money in deposit at a local bank.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the dark-haired, stocky man who is five feet, four inches tall, is asked to notify the city detective office, EV 2-2100.

Vice-President Big Race

Lively Jaycees Electing Again

The 1959 election of officers for Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, to be held Wednesday night, will be as lively as usual—with bands, records, parties and noisemakers.

But emphasis will be on the election for vice-presidents this year. Last year, the major contest was for president.

Ray Rownsley won the election, aided in part by a loud amplifier which played a recording of racing car motors when his opponent, Ken Robinson, began campaigning.

This year, Peter Forward is the only nomination for president, but there are six nominations for the three openings for vice-presidents.

Nominations are Roy Baker, Eric Charman, George Colwill, Stewart Hagar, Gerald Hallier and Alex Marshall.

Ten other members—Al Buchanan, Maurice Cownden, Clarence Ellis, Jim Hallier, Bill Hughes, Don McHardy, Don Ritson, Brian Small, George Stewart and Jack Urquhart—are contesting the nine openings for directors.

Henry Taylor is the only nomination for secretary, while Ken Barnes, John Meyer and Dave Swanbeck have been nominated for the position of treasurer.

The meeting will be held in the War Amputees' Hall, Oak Bay Junction, starting at 6.30 p.m.

Meat Would Be Inspected In New Slaughterhouse

CHEMAINUS — Plans for a co-operative company to build and operate a slaughterhouse and packing plant at Westholme were outlined to Chemsinus Chamber of Commerce this week by J. D. Dobbs, a Westholme farmer.

Operation of the plant, he said, would require a monthly slaughter of 1,000 animals.

Farmers of Vancouver Island could easily provide this number, he said.

At present, Mr. Dobbs emphasized, there is no government inspection of beef or meat killed on Vancouver Island.

His plans would make government inspection possible, he said.

Council Candidates Now Number Five

Battle Sure for Oak Bay Seats

Hopes of Oak Bay municipal officials to be spared the cost of a contested byelection to fill two council vacancies June 6 were dashed late yesterday when number of entries climbed to five.

First and second to file papers were H. J. F. Rose, 2344 Middowne, a past-president of the Oak Bay Board of Trade, and former councillor F. A. Robinson, who was disqualified as a council member recently through a real estate transaction.

A provincial department of highways engineer, John Douglas Watts, 2285 Woodlawn Crescent, entered the running last night. Mr. Watts was an unsuccessful Oak Bay council candidate last December.

They seek to fill the balance of two two-year terms which commenced last December. One was the seat held by Mr. Robinson and the other was held by Coun. Ralph Mathews, who resigned due to ill-health. Mr. Rose is an insurance salesman who was formerly manager of the Oak Bay branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Two others who have announced they will run are Norman Pittman, 3570 Beach Drive, an insurance broker, and John A. de Bourcier, 2761 Dufferin, a business manager.

6,000 Tax Notices Aimed at Oak Bay

Some 6,000 Oak Bay residents will receive their tax notices—totaling more than $1,000,000—in the mail this week, municipal clerk A. D. Findlay said last night.

Deadline for the payment of the taxes is June 30 and the council imposes a five per cent penalty from July 2. Ratepayers who do not receive their notices through the mail should notify the municipal hall, Mr. Findlay said.

Heavier Fines

Banned Drivers Given Warning

Magistrate William Ostler served warning yesterday that the fine for driving while under suspension would in future be heavier.

"There have been altogether too many cases of this kind in the last little while," said the magistrate. "The penalty has been kept reasonably moderate in the hope of a good effect, but this has not proved to be the case."

The warning was brief for two men: John Edward Croft, 931 Williston, and Stanley R. Tucker, 1601 Esquimalt, both of whom pleaded guilty to the charge.

Each was fined $100. Practice for the last few years was to levy a $50 fine for a first offence on this charge.

Acres of Plastic Will Line Pool

The swimming pool in Kinsmen-Gorge Park will be lined with about two acres of plastic sheeting soon, to make it the best swimming facility in Greater Victoria, John Graeme, Esquimalt engineer, said last night.

The pool will be pumped dry and cleaned out, Mr. Graeme said. After the plastic sheeting is installed it will be covered with nine to 12 inches of clean sand. The plastic will prevent mud mixing with the sand.

The 80,000 square feet of plastic, six-thousandths of an inch thick, will cost about $6,000 to install.

Black Ball Ship Hits Skids Monday

A U.S. company, gambling $3,000,000 that it knows its way around the financial pitfalls of year-round daily ferry service between Victoria and Washington State, will launch its 341-foot My Coho at Seattle on Monday.

The wager, according to Black Ball Transport Inc. vice-president L. V. Venable, is far from a sure thing.

He said his company hopes to avoid the usual pitfalls of ferry operation by launching a program for increased winter travel between Victoria and the U.S. and by backing up the Coho's passenger operation with a freight service.

The Coho, expected to go into service between Victoria and Port Angeles in mid-November this year, will double as a Seattle-Port Angeles cargo carrier.

FULL-YEAR SERVICE

Mr. Venable said that present passenger volume alone cannot support full-year ferry service on the run, but by promoting winter travel and handling freight, the company hopes to build volume to the point where two daily round trips between Port Angeles and Victoria will be necessary during winter months.

"We believe the Port Angeles-Victoria run will become the main arterial route between the United States and Canada in the Pacific Northwest as soon as the Hood Canal bridge is completed in 1960," he said.

"By next summer we hope to be running four round trips daily and within four or five years we may have to build another ferry."

Negotiations for a Victoria terminal are not yet completed but it is believed the Coho will dock in the Inner Harbor.

The Coho will carry 108 large cars and 500 to 1,000 passengers.

Market

Another Protest Made

Another protest against destruction of the market building was sent to city council yesterday.

Maj. F. V. Longstaff, 50 King George Terrace, in a letter to the mayor and council, said he had looked at the building with "an architect's eye."

He said the building "is so strongly built it would cost at least $22,000 to demolish."

He said the market building should be publicized as a tourist attraction and be given "encouragement and publicity."

First Aid Teams Field Day June 6

The 17th annual field day of the St. John Ambulance Brigade will be held in Central Junior High School starting at 10 a.m. June 6.

Team entries in junior and senior events are now being accepted by the brigade. Contestants must be holders of St. John Ambulance Association certificates in the grade entered.

Ear Defects Detected Electronically

Traffic Death

Coroner Cancels Inquest

There will be no inquest into the traffic death at midnight Saturday of Mrs. Edna Berreth, 1711 Mortimer, deputy coroner Dr. J. H. Moore announced yesterday.

Mrs. Berreth died in a crash at Douglas and Cloverdale. Her husband, Harry Otto Berreth, and Glen Lager, 1168 Caledonia, driver of the other car, were injured.

PROVINCIAL ORDER

Inquest was cancelled, Dr. Moore said, on instructions from the attorney-general's department. This step is taken when charges are pending in a case, in order to avoid duplication of evidence at inquest and court hearing.

Victims' Identity Sought

Royal Canadian Mounted Police are seeking help in identifying the two occupants of a car which vanished in the turbulent Similkameen River last Friday, May 15. (See story, Page 5.)

At about 11 p.m. that day a 1953 maroon Ford sedan, driving east from Princeton, passed another car on a sharp curve 20 miles east of the mainland city.

At almost the same moment this car plunged over the road bank and down into the muddy, turbulent Similkameen.

Up to yesterday, only the windshield and part of the rear seat of the car had been recovered. All attempts to identify the car, or the two persons believed in it, have failed.

Neither the bodies nor any other part of the car have been found.

RCMP in Victoria headquarters ask that anyone with information as to the car or its occupants get in touch with them at EV 2-3311, or telephone the nearest RCMP detachment.

Washington Ferries Expand Schedule

Washington State Ferries tomorrow steps up service on its Sidney-Anacortes run to two round trips daily, with the 110-car Evergreen State scheduled to leave Sidney at 10.45 a.m. and 4.45 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time).

The new schedule will remain in effect through June 11, when the full summer schedule of three daily round trips goes into operation.

Fallout Nothing! Open a Window

Victoria Labor Council decided last night to arrange a talk on nuclear fallout—and immediately found itself faced with a problem closer to home.

IWA delegate Edwin Haw jumped to his feet and said: "I find when I come to these meetings I'm more afraid of dying of suffocation than of the effects of the atomic bomb."

Delegates immediately passed another resolution calling for something to be done about ventilation in the labor council main hall.

Sidewalks Outside

Widening Planned For Gorge Bridge

The Gorge bridge, linking Saanich and Esquimalt, is to be widened about 10 feet by removal of the present sidewalks and the building of new sidewalks outside the present structure.

Cost of the work will be about $8,000. Saanich and Esquimalt will each pay $2,000 and the remaining $4,000 will be paid by the provincial government.

Both councils and the provincial government have approved the project. The two councils made provision for the work in their budgets.

A bridge engineer will be hired soon to design the additional sidewalks and construction is expected to be completed within a month, John Graeme, Esquimalt engineer, said last night.

Broken Promises Charged to Pearkes

Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes has failed to honor promises made to his constituents, M. R. Eaton, president of Sidney and North Saanich Chamber of Commerce, charged at a chamber meeting this week.

"Two years ago when he was seeking re-election he promised a new administration building and lengthening of the runway at Patricia Bay Airport," Mr. Eaton said.

"A runway is now being strengthened but the lengthening has never been mentioned again," he charged. "Preliminary work on the administration building has been stopped."

The chamber will write to the department of public works to ask what work is planned at the airport.

Hundreds 'Donate Blood

The one-day blood drive yesterday at Red Cross headquarters, 1046 Fort, resulted in a total of 221 pints of blood, Mrs. Violet Thistle, secretary of the blood donor panel, said last night.

Among donors were 40 employees of the Hudson's Bay Company, who came to the clinic in a group.

The regular blood-donor competition between Victoria hotrod clubs for a perpetual trophy donated by The Daily Colonist was won by the RPMs, with the Quarter-Millers second.

Jack Whitehead, 5661 West Saanich Road, suffered a severe cut on the right foot from a power mower while cutting his lawn at 8.25 last night. Saanich police rushed the injured man to Royal Jubilee Hospital where numerous stitches were applied before he was permitted to return home.

View Royal Incorporation

'Some Dicker in the Air' After Parley with Indians

View Royal incorporation committee last night met with chiefs of the Songhees and Esquimalt Indian bands to discuss possible inclusion of some 200 acres of reserve lands in the proposed village municipality.

Committee spokesman D. W. Bradford said following the meeting that no firm proposals came from either side during the informal meeting.

"We told them what we're doing and why," he said. "And in return the committee was told what would be involved if the reserve lands did come within municipal boundaries.

"You might say there is some dicker in the air," Mr. Bradford added. "But this is only a committee. . . . we have no power at all to dicker."

"I suppose Esquimalt at this juncture has the upper hand because it can go in there and say what they like."

However, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said last night the municipality is waiting for the Indians to make the first move in calling a meeting.

"It's entirely wrong to say we're after the Indians' rich lands, as has been suggested in the newspapers," the reeve said. If they feel it is to their advantage to develop reserve lands within the municipality . . . it might work out quite well for both sides.

"It's entirely up to the Indians—it's their land."

Reeve Wurtele said the municipality is looking for more land—"we're snowed up with applications for lots"—but would not think of bringing the reserve within Esquimalt boundaries "at the expense of our own taxpayers."

Victoria Day Services Set Friday

Special Victoria Day services sponsored by the Municipal Chapter of Victoria IODE scheduled for last Friday will be held this Friday at 10.45 a.m. on the legislative buildings grounds. School children, Scouts, Guides, and a number of cadet organizations will take part in the annual Empire and citizenship ceremony.

Incorporation Liked Spot Check Shows

A spot check taken this week indicates strong support for incorporation of View Royal as a village.

A spokesman said last night that there was "100 per cent response" from some 30 homeowners in one of the newer sections who were asked to sign the petition of incorporation.

A. W. Bradford, chairman of the View Royal incorporation committee, said this doesn't mean there is a total lack of opposition within the territory—"but at the moment we're feeling very happy."

Circulation of the petition will probably begin in earnest sometime next week among some 2,500 residents, he said. The petitioners must show sworn records proving a three-fifths majority favor incorporation.

Then the B.C. cabinet may approve a poll of property owners which would require a three-fifths majority before

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Four months ago I got engaged. My fiancé gave me a beautiful diamond ring. He said the diamond weighed one third of a carat. It was shiny and bright and I just loved showing it off. He bought the ring at a great saving from a salesman who was passing through town. He paid $350 for it.

About two months ago the diamond began to cloud up. It kept getting dimmer and dimmer. Last week when I showed my ring to a friend she asked me what it was. When I told her it's a diamond, she said "It can't be. Diamonds don't look like that." I almost died.

I took the ring to a jewelry shop the very next day and asked the owner to tell me if it was real. He said no and placed a value of $15 on the whole ring.

When I told my fiancé he said the jeweler who sized the ring must have switched stones. Is this possible. What do you think? What shall we do?—CHEATED.

Crazy, Mixed-Up Kids

Dear Cheated: I doubt very much that the jeweler who sized your ring switched stones. My guess is the salesman passing through town made a fast buck with some phony merchandise.

This should be a lesson to your fiancé (and others) to buy only from reputable merchants. If anything goes wrong you know where to find them. The next best thing to knowing something about jewelry, is to know something about the jeweler.

I suggest you replace that piece of milk bottle with a pearl—provided the mounting isn't tin.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this letter to teenagers who may be thinking about getting married secretly. I'm not a stuffy adult trying to tell teenagers what is right and what is wrong. I'm one of those crazy, mixed-up kids who ran away and got married while still in high school. In two weeks we will be married one year. My husband and I are both seniors.

We're still in love, but we wish we had controlled it better and waited to marry. I can't describe how awful it is to sneak around and lie and hide. The only ones who knew about us were the boy and girl we took along as witnesses. That is—until last week—when my mother found out.

She cried as if her heart would break. Now, the worst is yet to come. I have to tell my Dad, and Bill has to tell his parents. We're dreading it.

Marriage is more than love between two people. It's the wonderful feeling that everyone knows you belong together. When you have to sneak around and others can't share your joy it loses a lot.

Now I can't honestly tell you what our big hurry was. Please, Ann, print this letter. Maybe if I'd have seen a letter like it I would have saved my parents a lot of heartache.—BRENDA J

Trouble with Teachers

Dear Ann: Our 12-year-old son Lester has trouble in school with his teachers because he is brighter than they are. He outsmarts his math teacher constantly. As a result, she has it in for him. Yesterday she sent him home because he threw a book at her. I say when a student can rile a teacher to that extent it shows she's not up to her job.

Lester's I.Q. indicates he should be doing 9th grade work but they refuse to promote him. They claim he isn't doing what is required now. Of course he isn't. He's bored. Russia is getting ahead of us because we can't match her science program. Yet our schools discourage genius. Please say something to open a few eyes.—D.M.T.

If Lester, age 12, is throwing things at teachers, I suggest you open your eyes and concentrate on getting him squared away emotionally. THEN think about making a nuclear physicist out of him. A boy with a high I.Q. who has serious trouble in the "people department" can grow up to be a nuisance (or worse) to himself and everyone else.

Take Lester to a professional in adolescent behavior and stop blaming the teachers who react normally when they're pushed to the brink.

If alcohol is robbing you or someone you love of health and dignity, send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Fishers Resume Honeymoon Trip

CANNES, France — Elizabeth Taylor and Eddie Fisher resumed their Mediterranean honeymoon cruise after a whirlwind shopping tour of Cannes.

MR. AND MRS. TERRY THOMAS ROBERTSON

Newlyweds Leave For Seaside, Oregon

Motoring to Seaside, Oregon are honeymooners Mr. and Mrs. Terry Thomas Robertson. The couple was married in a ceremony performed by the Rev. Laura Butler in Metropolitan United Church.

Mrs. Robertson is the former Ethelyn Ann (Lynn) Haller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Haller, 1676 Cedar Avenue, and her groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Robertson, 941 McKenzie Avenue.

For the ceremony, Miss Haller chose a gown of ivory satin and net in the princess style with sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. The skirt was styled with three tiers of net and lace falling from a fitted bodice. Her tiara of pearls and rhinestones held an illusion veil and she carried red roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Gloria Gosse, in aqua, and Miss Ann Davies, in coral, were attendants, both gowned alike in crystalline princess-styled dresses with bouquets of white gladioli and stocks with bands of flowers in their hair.

Best man was Mr. Alvin Ford and ushers were Mr. John Haller, Mr. Terry Logan and Mr. John Lancaster.

For her wedding trip, Mrs. Robertson wore a navy blue sheath dress with powder blue duster and hat and pink roses on corsage.

The couple will live at 822 Hackley Road, Langford.

Greenhalgh-Dickens

Sluggitt Memorial Baptist Church was the scene of a Saturday wedding that united Cobble Hill and Saanichton families.

Miss Ann Dickens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dickens, of Cobble Hill, became the bride of Mr. William J. Greenhalgh, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Greenhalgh, of Tomlinson Road, Saanichton.

Pastor T. L. Westcott performed the ceremony.

Carrying talisman roses and lily-of-the-valley, Miss Dickens walked up the aisle in a gown of white brocade taffeta with a full skirt. Her coronet of seed pearls held a shoulder-length veil also embroidered in pearls.

Her attendants chose gowns of princess line taffeta in hues of blue and pink floral with moon-shaped bouquets of yellow snapdragons. Mrs. R. Townshend was matron-of-honor with bridesmaids the Misses Carl Steele and Louise Forberg and flower girl Vicky Westcott.

Best man was Mr. R. Townshend and ushers were Mrs. J. P. Delbrouck and Mr. A. J. Dickens.

More than 60 guests sat down to a wedding supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dickens, Cobble Hill.

'Queen' Thrills Tots

Beauty Queen Miss Victoria of 1959, Vivi Petersen, stopped to "freshen up" at the Britannia Legion branch on Monday and thrilled more than 50 youngsters by staying to hand out prizes for their fancy dress parade.

Miss Victoria paid a surprise visit to the Lake Hill Little League's Booster Club after the Victoria Day parade in which she and the youngsters played a part.

The Booster Club held the fancy dress day to raise money for equipment for their four major and seven minor teams.

The affair netted $76 for the league.

The War Pensioners of Canada, Victoria Branch, will meet today in the Fort-Street club rooms instead of the usual Friday meeting.

Aldren Hamber Chapter, IOOE will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Medley, 1906 Ferndale Road, at 8 p.m. this evening.

PERSONAL MENTION

Well-known Victoria West couple Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Spedding, Catherine Street, celebrated 60 years of marriage yesterday with their family gathered around them. The couple was married in Waddington, England, and have resided in Victoria for 36 years. Both are in their eighties and have eight children, 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Their family are Mrs. Gordon Graham, Mrs. Jack Viggers, Mrs. Jack Craig, Miss Evie Spedding, Mr. Arthur Spedding, Mr. Fred Spedding and Mr. Bill Spedding, all of Victoria. The couple celebrated with an open house yesterday at which they received congratulatory telegrams from Queen Elizabeth, Prime Minister Diefenbaker, Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor Percy B. Scurrah.

Cousins Christened

Cousins were christened recently at St. John's Anglican Church by Rev. Canon George Biddle. Diane Kathryn were the names given the six-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Morris, and Howard Ross the names given to the two-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Squire. Paternal grandparents are Mr. C. E. Morris and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Squire, and maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bousfield.

Victorians in London

Among the many visitors who recently registered at British Columbia House, London, are the following Victorians: Mrs. A. E. Thompson, Miss Marjorie Eekman, Miss Rachel Hull, Mr. and Mrs. E. Married 50 Years Ago

Married in Victoria 50 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dinsmore celebrated on Tuesday with an at-home at Emmanuel Baptist Church Fellowship Hall from 3 to 5 p.m. and from 8 to 10 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Dinsmore, who live on Queens Avenue, were married in the old Victoria Hall, Blanshard Street, by the late Rev. Christopher Burnett. Mrs. Dinsmore was born in Nova Scotia and her husband in Ontario, and they moved as children to Victoria, where Mrs. Dinsmore's father worked as a ship carpenter. Retired for seven years, Mr. Dinsmore has been in the automobile and later the grocery business. They're both active in church work and as a hobby Mrs. Dinsmore likes to knit.

Wishing Well Gifts

A wishing well held the miscellaneous shower gifts of May bride-elect Lorraine Frampton, at a party given for her by her grandmother, Mrs. A. Frampton, and her aunt, Mrs. W. Ritchie, at the home of the latter. Spring corsages of pink, blue and yellow were presented to Miss Frampton, to her mother, Mrs. J. P. Frampton, Mrs. A. Perry, the groom-elect's mother, and to his grandmother, Mrs. W. Dietrich, who recently arrived from Hamilton, Ontario, to attend Saturday's wedding. Among the guests at the shower were Mrs. B. E. Currey, Mrs. J. Currey, Mrs. W. F. Large, Mrs. L. G. Large, Mrs. L. Blackwell, Mrs. W. Shearing, Mrs. D. K. Branter, Mrs. P. Craigie, Mrs. W. Ludlow, Mrs. F. Stoddart, Mrs. N. Milk, Honey, Mushrooms

Canada is a land of milk, honey, and mushrooms — for our friends below the 49th parallel, I hear.

Our local mushrooms grow in abundance on the Saanich Peninsula are great favorites of the tourists and no wonder! Down south, mushrooms sell by the pound anywhere from $1.30 to $1.50. Here you'll buy a heap of mushrooms for 89 cents. What could be more delightful than a steak and mushroom dinner?

Coming attractions of the summertime cinema of fruits and vegetables include a wide selection of salad items.

Best buy on our markets these days is California coastal and red lettuce. These solid heads of good eating and good salad "makers" can be used in a variety of ways.

This year's cantaloupe crop promises to be the finest in many a moon. The market is dropping and prices will be reasonable throughout the season.

Betty Hutton Asks Alimony

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—Actress Betty Hutton, 38, filed a superior court petition seeking $3,300 monthly temporary alimony from her estranged husband, Alan W. Livingston, 38, a television executive.

This is the first year in many we won't miss out on grapes. There are still delectable last year's grapes on the market and next week, new drop seedless grapes from India, Calif., will arrive — the Perlette variety—little green, thin-skinned table grapes so right for fruit cocktails and salads. Also we'll see the black seedless, the sweetest of the new crop grapes.

Keeping our fingers crossed that the current sunshine will last, we'll see local strawberries in two to three weeks. Meanwhile, this luxury item from California is selling in a variety of prices from 35 cents a basket to two for 49 cents.

It will soon be peach and apricot time in Victoria as the first truckloads of these California fruits arrive in about a week. Prices promise to be reasonable.

New spud prices are slowly easing but it won't be until the middle of June that we'll see any drastic price drop when the locals come on the market. Average price of the Shattlers is about 10 pounds for 79 cents.

Junior Leaguers Told

Hubby Heads Back to Class

VICTORIA—Expanding responsibilities of modern living will soon take college graduates back to the classrooms for brush-up courses, according to Dr. James Roby Kidd, director of the Canadian Association for Adult Education.

He told some 400 women attending the 37th annual conference of the Association of the Junior Leagues of America meeting this week in the Empress Hotel, that "within the next 25 years almost every husband will be back to school at least once; many of them for periods of from two to 25 weeks every two to five years."

Dr. Kidd based his prediction on "the simple fact that today no college or professional training can prepare a man for all of the new responsibilities that come his way as he advances in his chosen field. Accordingly, professional societies and corporations are entering deeply into the educational field, either in collaboration with universities or on their own."

He pointed out that corporations in the United States already operate a second system of higher education, with thousands of professors teaching hundreds of thousands of adult students; with instruction in the basic sciences almost comparable to that offered by universities, and with research so intensive that it far out-reaches that done in colleges and graduate schools.

To Be Wed in June

The engagement is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Crawford, of Vancouver, of their daughter, Moira Ann, to Mr. Malcolm Bain Anderson, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Victoria. The wedding will be held at St. Mary's Church, Kerrisdale, at 2.30 p.m. on June 30.

What's Cooking?

By Louise Moore

When it comes to fishing, silence is more eloquent than words—we know so little about it. Yet we always have had a hankering to go fishing.

It seems such a restful sport and there is magic in a quiet brook, clean fresh air, the woody odor of pine and the aroma of brook trout frying briskly over an outdoor fire.

Nothing equals the flavor of a mess of small brook trout cooked over a campfire with bacon and served with hot buttered toast of a loaf of homemade bread and butter. The small trout weighing about 10 ounces are usually served whole with head and tail intact, but we prefer to lop them off, clean and wash the fish and dry thoroughly.

The amount to serve depends on individual taste, but one person is best, unless they are really small.

SOME VARIATIONS

If fish is small leave it whole, otherwise cut into serving pieces. Brush on all sides with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper and a little paprika. Some like to add a wee bit of grated onion or you may dip the fish into salted milk, then roll in sifted bread crumbs or cornmeal mixed with a little pepper.

Fry in hot butter or place on greased pan and bake uncovered in hot oven (500) about 20 minutes or until fish is easily flaked with a fork. Do not turn. You may also bake in a moderate oven if you prefer it for 30 minutes (350). Serve with a lemon wedge and chopped parsley.

If pan fried, have about 1/4 inch of piping hot butter in pan and fry until a deep golden brown on one side, then turn and brown the other side. The fish should be crisp and not greasy. It won't be if the fat is hot enough.

If the fish is frozen, thaw before cooking. Sprinkle the fried trout with black pepper and a squeeze of lemon and dust with chopped parsley.

You may also melt a little butter in pan and when sizzling hot and brown pour over the fish and serve. Chopped almonds may be sauteed with butter and poured over the fish for trout almondine.

Served with rashers of bacon and steaming mugs of coffee—indoors or out it is a classic dish. For a quick lunch or supper, serve the trout with French fries or chips and cucumbers in sour cream dressing.

TROUT WITH TOMATO SAUCE

Prepare a 1/2-pound trout and place in greased, shallow baking dish. Saute 1/4 cup finely chopped onion in butter until tender but not browned. Add 1/4 cup finely chopped celery and one No. 2 can tomatoes. Pour over the trout, dot with butter, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in moderate oven (350) about 35-40 minutes or until fish flakes easily with a fork. Remove fish to heated platter and strain the tomato mixture.

Blend 1 tbsp. flour with 1 egg yolk and 1/2 cup light cream or top milk. Add a few drops tabasco. Mix well and add to tomato mixture and cook over low heat for 5 or 6 minutes. Pour the sauce over the fish and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley and serve at once. Serves 4-6.

A tart relish such as onion, pickled beets, cole slaw or cucumbers in sour cream goes well with fish dishes.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

TRY BEFORE YOU BUY. According to corsetieres, a preponderant number of women purchase brassieres without trying them on. And it is a practice that cannot be sanctioned, except in the case of re-orders.

To judge shaping, a new style must be tried. Furthermore, there is wisdom in asking the corsetiere in attendance for advice on the garments you try. She has the training and experience that enable her to recommend styles best suited to your needs.

A try-on also gives you the chance to test the comfort of a bra. However flattering, it is unsuitable and unhealthy, too, if it is uncomfortable. To test comfort, answer "yes" to these questions while you stand and sit: Are you able to take a good, deep breath? Can you easily slip a finger under the band? Do the breasts fill out the cups without crowding?

As a final word in favor of try-ons, perfectly fitted bras give longer service. So do try before you buy!

'I Feel It Is Lovely'

Rosses Display New Mansion

Lieutenant-Governor Bought the Furnishings

British Columbia's new $1,600,000 Government House went on view yesterday when Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross were hosts to some 60 British Columbia and American press representatives.

Except for a reception next Sunday when some 1,300 guests—workmen and contractors and their wives who worked on Government House—will tour the luxurious new mansion, it doesn't appear the general public will see Government House for some time.

The new mansion is not the same, but as much as possible of the tradition, comfort, charm, dignity and efficiency of the old structure has been reproduced.

"I somehow feel it isn't new, but I feel it is lovely," said Mrs. Ross as she proudly showed off the building yesterday.

A principal change in the main staircase, which now risers on either side of the main entrance hall.

There was obvious pride in the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Ross showed off the mansion yesterday.

Mrs. Ross confided to the Colonist that she had been in conference with the architects the day Government House burned down.

Two weeks later Mr. and Mrs. Ross left for Scotland where they personally purchased much of the furniture which now graces the 162 rooms.

Mrs. Ross with a happy smile refused to divulge how much it cost.

Best Place for Treasure

"You couldn't find a better resting place for any treasure or anything of value. More people see it here and it gets the best of care. We were very happy to do it," she smiled.

Works Minister W. N. Chant and other public works department officials were high in praise for Mrs. Ross. "Sometimes she was on the job at 5.30 a.m. and nearly always by 8.30. She supervised everything and even moved furniture herself," said one.

The Rosses seemed almost apologetic that everything in Government House seemed to be of top quality. They were careful to explain that everything went out to tender and that the work was evenly distributed as much as possible to B.C. firms.

"These curtains are all the very best fabrics. They will be here for 100 years or more," Mrs. Ross said.

Glass for the chandeliers was purchased from an Eastern Canadian firm and the three big 200-pound ballroom chandeliers which are lowered by a winch for servicing, are copies of the ones in Buckingham Palace. These crystal-and-brass chandeliers have six centre globes and 16 candles each.

In the kitchen some of the furniture was saved from the fire and is in use on special request from the head chef, who said he was used to the old tables and refrigerator. Kitchen cabinets are full of food.

"We run a small hotel here," Mrs. Ross explained. "Everything is full. Every inch."

Daily Colonist Victoria, B.C., Thurs., May 21, 1959 25

Somebody's Out In Room Count

The chataelaine of Government House will have to start counting the rooms of the new mansion this morning.

Mrs. Ross said yesterday there were about 57 rooms, but the official count is 162 rooms—60 on the basement floor, 27 on the ground floor, 37 on the second and 38 on the third.

Choice Furnishings from Ireland, Scotland

Furnishings for the dining-room, which seats 46 guests, have almost entirely been donated to the mansion by Mrs. Ross, who displays them here. Donegal carpet with dogwood motif was woven in Ireland. The table is oak, from Inverness, Scotland. B.C. crests worked into the fabric of every chair are the work of craftsmen in Peebles, Scotland. Screen in the corner came from Hatley Park.

Enough Magnificence . . .

Hardly Anyone Wanted Tea

By EILEEN LEAROLD

Yesterday I poured tea at Government House.

The occasion was the reception given the press by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross to view the new Government House.

I poured tea following Miss Janet Partridge of the Vancouver Sun and Miss Elizabeth Forbes of The Times.

By the time my turn came at the gracious invitation of Miss Ruth MacLean Secretary to Mrs. Ross, people seemed to have stopped drinking tea.

I think I poured five cups—one to a lady representing the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one to a lady unknown to me, one to L. M. Currie of the Similkameen Spotlight and two to Miss Forbes, who hadn't had a chance to drink any tea before.

Before this I had followed the attractive and tireless Mrs. Ross through the four floors of Government House where there was enough magnificence to spoil ordinary living forever.

It was exceedingly pleasant to sit in the middle of the ballroom, behind a table dazzling with silver and candles, and not pour tea.

Did ever the oil barons and earls have it like this?

Beneath me, I am happy to say, was the ballroom floor—quarter-cut red oak flooring. Around the edge of the floor, the kind of rich red carpeting that always brings coronets and tiaras to mind.

Above, three splendid, huge sun-mirroring chandeliers. Above, also, the glass-and-gold balcony.

At the far end of the ballroom, huge gold velvet poufs and graceful chairs.

Off to the right could be seen the emerald-green velvet of the drawing-room drapes, against cool white walls where His Honor and Mrs. Ross posed endlessly and graciously for photographers.

It was with great reluctance that I stopped not pouring tea.

Even Powder Room Is Opulent

Opulence of the new Government House is carried right through to the new large public powder room, on the lower floor. The room is papered in a floral design on pale pink. Pretty, low stools are flounced in a sea-green Sanderson fabric, and there are mirrors enough for 100 guests to powder their noses all at once. —(Colonist photo.)

Acres of Crystal —Efficiency, Too

A new Government House, more spacious, better lit, more lavishly furnished, fitted with push-button conveniences, was shown yesterday at an advance press tour.

Mrs. F. M. Ross, chatelaine of the mansion, as wife of Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, was the personal guide.

Apart from things immediately obvious, such as the fact that there is hardly an ordinary light-bulb visible to the eye in the structure—there are acres and acres of the finest crystal chandeliers—there are many new arrangements made for the convenience of the thousands of public visitors.

THOUSANDS
For this magnificent building, owned by the people of British Columbia, sees some 10,000 visitors a year.

As the central point in the great social functions of the province in the past Government House has not been entirely satisfactory.

Formerly the coats of visitors were left in small cloakrooms just off the main entrance hall.

The small cloakrooms are still there, and may be used for small parties, but added to this is cloakroom accommodation for 600.

ELEVATOR
Another innovation is the automatic electric elevator serving the four floors.

Mrs. Ross took obvious pleasure in showing the new pantry on the main floor, which is served from the kitchen below by an electric dumb-waiter.

"We are equipped here to do quick washing and drying of dishes for large numbers," smiled Mrs. Ross. "It has already proved a great help. This week alone, we will have more than 2,000 visitors here."

'From the Ashes'

Book to Tell Royal Couple Homes' History

When Queen Elizabeth visits Government House July 16 and 17 she will be presented with a complete book about British Columbia's 10 government houses.

The book is now being rushed to the printers and will be titled "From the Ashes" with the sub-title "Concerning Government House—Phoenix of Canada's Pacific Province."

There will be plenty of illustrations including pictures of all of British Columbia's lieutenant-governors and their chateaux, and pictures of all former Government Houses.

ILLUSTRATIONS
Illustrations of former Government Houses will include Lieutenant-Governor Richard Blanshard's house, where the new post office now stands; the house occupied by Sir James Douglas on Elliot Street, where the government parking lot now is; Trutch House, now Villa Eleanor on Trutch Street; Cary Castle on the site of the existing Government House; the temporary government house of Lieutenant-Governor Frederick Seymour in New Westminster; the Green House on Moss Street, now the Art Gallery; the Government House on Rockland which was rebuilt after a fire razed it on May 18, 1899, and which burned down again April 15, 1957; and the new Government House.

There were two or three additional buildings built to Cary Castle at various times which in fact created new Government Houses.

Editorial board of the new book includes deputy public works minister Arnold Webb, planner architect W. D. Lougher-Goody, architect P. N. Cotton, supervising architect W. H. C. Curtis, provincial architect Willard Ireland and landscape architect Robert Savery.

Police Asked To Find Man

Request for help in locating Leonard Emms, 65, of Suite 1, 736 Courtney, was made to Victoria police yesterday.

Emms, described as five feet, 10 inches tall, weighing 165 pounds, with grey hair going bald, has been missing since May 1. His glasses and false teeth were found in his room.

Hi-Fi from the Ceiling

Music in Every Room From Central Console

A master console in the chateau's office in Government House provides facilities for radio programs and records to be fed into the main rooms and corridors in both the basement and the second floor. The speakers in these rooms provide high fidelity reproduction and are concealed in the ceilings and false beams. There are separate volume controls in each room and corridor.

BALLROOM STEREO

A second console in the ballroom permits stereophonic records to be fed to large three-way stereophonic speakers concealed on the north wall of the ballroom, where the acoustics are said to be perfect. These speakers can also relay standard radio and record reproductions from the master console.

Radio and television reception at Government House is of the highest quality from a remote television and radio antenna tower concealed in the trees to the east of the building. Facilities for television reproduction are provided in all the guest suites as well as in the staff recreational rooms. Radio reception facilities are provided in all bedrooms as well as the various guest suites.

The high stone portico of the old house was all that remained after the fire. Its old stonework, newly sand-blasted and shining, forms the entranceway from the circular, tree-lined drive.

The Government House is heated by a hot water heating system, oil-fired.

Room thermostats provide individual room control in rooms and offices on the ground floor and in each suite on the second floor.

Cast iron baseboard radiation has been used throughout the building with the exception of service areas and staff quarters, where cast iron tubular radiators have been employed. The baseboard radiation has been blended into the decor of each room by the use of matching wooden baseboard.

Two refrigerated rooms have been provided in the building — one a wine and liquor room and the other a meat and vegetable room.

The 210-foot-high "Big Wheel" at Vienna's amusement park, the Wurstelplatz, has been operating since 1898.

Lower lounge might be called rumpus room of Government House with television and game facilities. Set in granite den fireplace is showpiece of gold-bearing quartz donated by Queen and Victoria Chambers of Commerce.

Panel above fireplace was carved by Charles Seyfert to commemorate B.C.'s centennial year. Below it is Brig. John S. Adam, aide-de-camp to the lieutenant-governor. — (Colonist photo.)

Three Favorites

Treasures to Savor

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Frank M. Ross yesterday told the press about the three things in Government House which please him most.

The first are the blue Sevres vases and clock which stand on the mantelpiece in the entrance hall.

"Ever since I was a boy," he said, "I admired those pieces. When I was going to school in Tain, Scotland, I looked at them through the store window every day. Since then on each trip to Britain, I tried to buy them."

"Finally, on my last trip, when I told the owner about B.C.'s new Government House, she agreed to sell them to me. They are quite priceless and it gives me great pleasure to have them here."

The second thing is four paintings done by Horne Russell.

"When Mr. C. M. Hayes was president of the Grand Trunk Railway, he commissioned these Canadian scenes to be put up in hotels he planned to build."

The Titanic before he could build his hotels and these paintings were stored away for years by the CNR. I persuaded Donald Gordon to let us have them."

Two of the magnificent oils dominate the landing of the big hall stairway. Two more are hung on the second floor. Mr. Ross' third great satisfaction is in his dozen or so copies of Scottish paintings by H. Macbeth-Raeburn, which are signed by the original artist. One, "The Cock o' the North" hangs over the fireplace in his own study.

Flu Epidemics Mount

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP)—The health department said Wednesday a three-month influenza epidemic in the province is widespread, and shows no signs of abating. Fourteen persons have died either directly or indirectly from the flu.

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—A flu epidemic yesterday was reported raging unchecked throughout five Australian states with more than half the population hit in some areas.

In Sydney, where the epidemic now is in its sixth week, stores, government departments and industries are paying huge sums in overtime to cope with staff shortages.

Absenteeism in some areas of south Australia has reached a proportion of one in seven persons.

Doctors say the epidemic is far from its peak and they expect cases to increase as the southern hemisphere winter closes in.

Bennett Interest Pleases New Liberal Leader

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ray Perrault Wednesday expressed delight in Social Credit Premier Bennett's interest in the Liberal party convention that elected him last week but said statements made were wrong.

Mr. Bennett said Tuesday the election of Perrault influenced a turn by members to the Social Credit camp.

Mr. Perrault said the opposite is true and "there has been a great deal of interest in our new plan on the part of many of Mr. Bennett's former followers."

Mr. Bennett charged the election of Mr. Perrault and resolutions passed at the convention were evidence of radicalism in the Liberal party.

"We are delighted in Mr. Bennett's interest in what he had predicted would be a telephone booth Liberal convention," said Mr. Perrault.

Mourning by Day, Jewels by Night

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Linda Christian startled the Cannes film festival folks with her deep mourning—by day—for late husband Tyrone Power. But Linda put on the jewels at night for sightseeing and fun.

What a strange woman she is!

Debbie Reynolds collapsed after Eddie Fisher made that mysterious imbuendo. Is the "real reason" for the break-up of their marriage. Debbie was sent home from the set of "It Started with a Kiss"—the first time her private-life troubles have interfered with her work.

Marilyn Monroe won't do "Can Can," and she won't do "Time and Tide." Neither will Ella Kazan. In fact, they were never going to. But Shirley MacLaine can "Can Can" and will, with Frank Sinatra and Maurice Chevalier.

Audrey Hepburn believes the role in Alfred Hitchcock's "No Ball for the Judge" at Paramount is not right for her and, after a meeting with the poly-producer-director it seems Audrey decided she wouldn't make the movie. Audrey can use the rest; she and husband Mel Ferrer are expecting.

An auditing of Anita Ekberg's finances has been ordered by the judge in the lawsuit brought against her by Anita's former press agent, Mike Welles.

SHIRLEY MacLAINE
... can 'Can Can'

Pretty publicist Pat Newcomb should be twins. Judy Garland wanted her in New York for her Metropolitan appearances, but Liz Taylor and Eddie Fisher wanted her in Las Vegas for the wedding and the flight to New York, where Pat caught up with Judy.

Trackdown's Bob Culp has the inside track for one of the top roles in "The Tall Man"—next project planned by Hecht-Hill-Lancaster. Bob is one TV cowboy well schooled in his acting trade. He studied dramatics at the University of Washington and then put in two years under Herbert Berg off in New York.

When Fred Astaire goes to London next month with daughter Ava, they will stay at the American Embassy in Regent Park. Fred and Ambassador Jock Whitney have been friends since Jock attended Oxford and Fred and sister Adele were the big hits of the London stage in "Lady Be Good."

On the Newport-to-Ensenada yacht race, skipper Rock Hudson landed in San Diego due to an ill wind which blew his yacht no good.

Godfrey to Get X-Rays For Another Three Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arthur Godfrey will receive about three more weeks of daily X-ray treatments at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Centre before he returns to his farm in Virginia.

The TV star, recuperating from an April 30 chest operation for cancer, is still in pain from the surgery and is "pretty tired," a spokesman said. But Godfrey was reported in good spirits. He spends much of his time on his apartment terrace overlooking the East River and is driven daily to the hospital for treatment.

Plea Changed In $8,780 Theft

Edward Melville Smith, no fixed address, appeared in Saanich police court yesterday to change an earlier plea of not guilty to guilty, on a charge of breaking, entering and theft Dec. 21, 1957.

Charged jointly with Michael John Hogan, also no fixed address, who also pleaded guilty, he was remanded to today for sentence.

Det. Sgt. Joseph Armstrong of Saanich police told the court that, on the 1957 date, during the afternoon and early evening, the two broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Craig, 2501 Sinclair.

He said they removed articles valued at $8,780. Of these, goods worth $5,237 have been recovered in Victoria, Colwood, Nanaimo, Vancouver and Regina.

Another $1,000 worth of articles have been located in the United States and will be returned.

Articles stolen included a television set, radio, typewriter, jewelry, shoes, suits, dresses, coats, silverware, dinner sets and general household and personal effects.

Prosecutor Kenneth Murphy told Magistrate William Ostler that Smith has a record dating back to 1946, including convictions for false pretences, theft of a car, uttering, forgery, passing worthless cheques, skipping bail, theft and attempted escape in cities in this province, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Ontario.

Hogan has no known record.

In the same court, Richard Gordon Gray, 2914 Douglas, was sentenced to two months in jail for breaking, entering and theft on Nov. 15, 1956, at the Northgate Cafe in Saanich.

Sentence was made concurrent with a similar term handed down in city court yesterday for wilful damage, after Gray admitted breaking two downtown windows worth about $170.

In city police court, Cuthbert Anderson, no fixed address, was fined $35 or in default seven days for theft of two shirts from the Hudson's Bay Co. store.

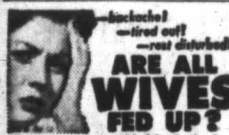

Gordon Wayne Norton, 1124 Fort, who pleaded guilty Tuesday to taking a car without the owner's consent, was fined $100 or in default one month.

Hundreds Sought To Pick Berries

More than 600 berry pickers will be needed by farms starting June 1, the National Employment Service office said yesterday.

Despite numerous advertisements, "many pickers are still required," said James Fox, office manager.

Pickers will earn between $3 and $10 a day, depending on how many berries are picked, he said. Interested pickers were asked to call the employment office.

When they are troubled by backache, that tired out feeling or disturbed rest, many women turn to Dodd's Kidney Pills. These conditions can be caused by excess acids and wastes in the system and Dodd's Kidney Pills stimulate the kidneys and aid their normal action of removing these excess acids and wastes. Then life seems brighter, housework lighter! Why don't you, too, try Dodd's!

DULUTH, Minn. (UPI) — "Romantic kids who want some foreign lovin'" are swarming aboard the European freighters sailing through the St. Lawrence Seaway, authorities said yesterday.

Juvenile and port authorities from Duluth and Superior, Wis., planned an emergency meeting today to discuss regulations for keeping teenagers, most of them girls, from boarding the ships.

Tom O'Heir, head of the Duluth crime prevention bureau, said the strange foreign ships and their teenage sailors have opened a new juvenile delinquency problem.

For decades, Great Lakes freighters have docked at Superior and Duluth, but their American crewmen weren't regarded as glamorous by the cities' hobby-sox set.

"These sailors can't even speak English, but these girls seem to go for it," Superior Police Chief A. E. Buchanan added.

Last week, authorities had to rout a crowd of teenagers, most of them girls, from a Greek ship. The same thing happened on a French vessel this week.

Chief Buchanan said he was "surprised at the age of these sailors, they're so young."

"They're giving the girls drinks, and you know what that leads to," he said.

Death Reunites Master, Dog

ROCHDALE, England (AP)—Jack Ashworth, 46, took a stroll with the collar and lead his dog Topper had worn before the 13-year-old Alredale died. Then he went home and took a fatal dose of poison.

He left a note to a friend: "I am going to join Topper."

Harold Midgeley told the inquest that Ashworth, who was divorced, had called on him the night after Topper died and cried continually. "I have nobody to go home to now," he told Midgeley.

Government House Waits in Splendor To Welcome Queen

By EILEEN LEAROYD

When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip move into British Columbia's new Government House July 16 and 17, they will be staying in the most costly and luxurious government mansion in Canada.

The $1,600,000 vice-regal residence, which boasts a lower-lounge fireplace inlaid with gold-bearing quartz, is even more lavish than Ottawa's Rideau Hall.

When the Queen enters her Victoria "home" she will be confronted by a sea of scarlet carpet, pink walls, drapes patterned after the ancestral fabric of Earl Lothian's castle, acres of natural oak and B.C. spruce panelling, pink marble fireplaces, wallpaper embossed with a velvet texture,

Crests of every member of the Royal Family and crests of every governor-general who has stayed at Government House are mounted over the dining room fireplace.

Portraits of every former lieutenant-governor of B.C., privately commissioned by the present lieutenant-governor, line the walls of the great entrance hall and flank the life-size portraits of the Queen and the Prince done by Arthur Parr of England.

Sun-Washed Look

Gone are the dark blue walls in the entrance, and the big stained-glass windows. The whole entrance is now lit by a fine white paper finely figured in deep red. Clear glass now forms the big hall window which reaches nearly two storeys, giving Government House a fresh, sun-and-air-washed look it never seemed to have before.

The suite already prepared for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip is a masterpiece of understated good taste and comfort.

Mrs. Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor, personally selected all furnishings and decorations for the royal suite. On the second floor, it is made up of two bedrooms, two bathrooms, a sitting-room and a dressing room.

The sitting room is L-shaped, with rose carpeting, chairs and sofas covered in white satin with a floral design, pink-and-white marble fireplace. The whole room is bathed in sunshine and the flock wallpaper in ivory reflects the shadings of the sky and ocean which seem to pour in the big windows.

A large dressing room is simply four walls of mirrors, cupboards and drawers which reach to the ceiling.

Mirrored in Chandelier

The principal bedroom again repeats the velvet-texture ivory walls. The drapes are of floral satin, there is another pink-and-white marble fireplace, the woodwork is a muted champagne color, and all the pinks and blues and greens in the drapes and on the satin-upholstered beds are mirrored in the sparkling crystal chandelier.

The second bedroom, furnished in a more masculine fashion, carries out an ivory-and-green theme mixed with soft grey. "The McNab" by Raeburn dominates the fireplace.

Both the principal bedroom and the second bedroom are designed with astonishing luxury. There are white rugs on the floors. The principal bathroom has a variety of crystal appointments. The walls are muted pink, the bathtub is pink, the walls are blue-grey, there are cupboards and indirect lighting.

The second bathroom is quite impressive, in grey-green. Telephones are white. The cupboards, lined with cedar, are lighted.

Stairway for Royalty

For the special convenience of royal guests there is the West Stairway, carpeted in scarlet, which runs from the top floor, down through the suites for royal visitors, to the main floor, and down to the lower floor.

On this "royal floor" is also the suite for His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Ross and Mrs. Ross, plus four other luxurious bedrooms.

On the floor above are nine

bedrooms which may be used for the staffs of distinguished visitors.

The large bedroom immediately above the royal suite is already in readiness for the Queen's dresser.

When the Queen and Prince Philip arrive, they will be accompanied by a fairly large staff. Mrs. Ross says nine or more will occupy the top floor, and a further eight or nine will be accommodated in a cottage in Government House grounds.

CCFer Raps Spending On Lavish New Home

Criticism of "lavish" spending on British Columbia's new Government House in Victoria was levelled at the Social Credit government Wednesday.

by Gordon Dowling, CCF MLA for Burnaby.

Mr. Dowling, who toured the building with other members of the legislature Tuesday, said in Vancouver he wished the government gave "as much care and attention to other buildings."

He said a new home for the aged at Essondale will open Friday after seven years of planning and construction at a cost of $1,900,000.

"And yet when the lieutenant-governor and his wife are homeless," he said, "the government takes only two years to build a sumptuous, lavish structure for $1,600,000." This, he said, was "a commentary on the social philosophy of this government."

Windsor To Testify?

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—A member of the Bahaman House of Assembly said Wednesday it is imperative that the Duke of Windsor come to Nassau and disclose what information he has on the Sir Harry Oakes murder case. (See also Page 5.)

Home, Sweet Home

Home at last in the new $1,600,000 Government House Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross relaxed in his easy chair and said: "I like it." He spent undisclosed thousands of dollars of his own money to help furnish the new mansion.

A sea of red carpeting borders the magnificent ballroom floor of Government House, is repeated up the graceful staircase and around the glass and gold gallery. Here is seen the south end of the ballroom where large gold velvet poufs and brocade chairs contrast with the glow of the quartered red oak floor. The three chandeliers in this room each weigh 200 pounds.

Bulletins

GENEVA (CP)—France and West Germany Wednesday night were reported to have blocked an American-British move to lay a skeleton German peace treaty before Russia at the Big Four conference.

LOS ANGELES—Four mice may be hurled into space in a satellite today in the first U.S. attempt to put animals into orbit and recover them.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala—The Guatemalan Government says four armed schooners had left Cuba carrying forces for an invasion of Guatemala.

DULUTH, Minn.—An entire steel mill will be shipped from Wales this summer via the St. Lawrence Seaway and on to Regina by rail.

NEW YORK—A picket collapsed with a stroke outside of one of New York's six strike-harassed voluntary hospitals. He was rushed into the emergency room and received quick treatment which the hospital said may have saved his life.

RIO DE JANEIRO—A commuter ferry collided with tugboat in Rio Harbor and sank. At least six persons were drowned.

PRINCESS ANNE

Princess To Join Brownies

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Anne will become a Brownie and have her own pack in Buckingham Palace, it was announced yesterday, and like all "Brownies" she will have to do the dishes.

It was Queen Elizabeth's idea that her lively eight-year-old daughter don the brown uniform of the "Brownie" of the Girl Scouts. The Queen is a former Girl Guide and patron of the Girl Guides Association.

The "Princess Anne" pack will be open to members of the now-operating Holy Trinity pack and "certain" children who live near Buckingham Palace. A palace spokesman said the children would be from all walks of life.

Garbage, Services Would Halt

A spokesman for Victoria's 250 civic outside workers said last night the union will strike "when ever we see fit" unless city council agrees to a 19-cent wage increase.

C. M. Thompson, as delegate representing the Civic Employees Protective Association, Local 50, made the statement in a report to Victoria Labor Council.

Earlier in the evening Mayor Scurrah had no comments on the strike decision.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

VLC delegates voted unanimously to support the union in any strike.

If the union strikes it will halt garbage collection, street cleaning, road repairs and a number of other services in the city.

"If you suffer any inconvenience," Mr. Thompson told delegates, "I ask you not to blame civic employees, but to blame the city fathers."

OFFER REJECTED

He said the union rejected the latest settlement offer drafted at a special city council meeting Tuesday. At the union meeting held Tuesday night membership decided to strike "whenever we see fit."

Mr. Thompson said: "And if the city doesn't come up with the 19 cents an hour recommended by the conciliation board—that's what is going to happen."

He said Victoria's civic outside workers now get wages below those of surrounding municipalities despite the fact that it is the second largest city in B.C.

ONLY $1.74

Even with the 19-cent increase sought by the union, he said, civic outside workers here would only receive $1.74 compared with the $1.79 base pay for other Island municipalities. "All the figures show we're entitled to an increase of 41 cents an hour (union's original request) . . . but the city has even refused to look at the 19 cents recommended by the conciliation board."

The city has publicly offered the union 7½ cents, and it is understood that the latest offer rejected by the outside workers was for 9 cents.

'We Won't Start It'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an interview made public yesterday, told a group of American visitors that the Soviet Union "will not start a war." "And no lunatic in the United States will start one," the premier added.

IWA Threatens Illegal Strike

Threat of an illegal strike by 30,000 coast lumber workers hovers over British Columbia.

Joe Morris, IWA district president, charged in Vancouver yesterday that Labor Minister Lyle Wicks has set the stage for open conflict in the forest industry by reversing policy.

And IWA official Edwin Haw told Victoria Labor Council last night "the union can do one of two things" in light of Mr. Wicks' decision to refer the dispute to a conciliation board.

Mr. Haw said the IWA in March decided on a "no contract, no work" policy and since it was "impossible" to complete conciliation proceedings by the June 15 contract expiry date one alternative was to stage an illegal walk-out June 16.

The alternative, said Mr. Haw, was for IWA delegates to decide whether the June 15 deadline should be extended. Mr. Morris said Mr. Wicks told both parties four weeks ago a conciliation officer would be allowed to prepare a report with recommendations in lieu of those of a conciliation board.

The IWA and coast lumber operators were called to Mr. Wicks' Victoria office Tuesday, he said, and conciliation officer R. G. Clements' report was given. It recommended only that the dispute be referred to a conciliation board.

John Billings of Forest Industrial Relations, representing the operators, said management also had understood "that the conciliation officer would bring down a report that would eliminate the necessity of a conciliation board."

Africa Bill Strengthens Race Bias

CAPETOWN, South Africa (Reuters)—Debate on a government bill to strengthen racial segregation ended Wednesday night with Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd proclaiming his determination to have a separate white state in South Africa.

The Bantu African self-government bill was passed by a vote of 102 to 58 in the House of Assembly amid opposition charges it will lead to the destruction of all that South Africa has achieved in 300 years.

The new bill, introduced by the governing Nationalist party, would remove the white representatives of Africans in both Houses of Parliament.

Cowichan

'Biggest' Bylaw June 13

DUNCAN — Ratepayers in School District 65 (Cowichan) will go to the polls June 13 to vote on the "biggest-ever" school money bylaw here, for $1,155,200.

About half the total, estimated at $564,100, will be paid by the provincial government.

The referendum to "modernize" the school district was disclosed yesterday by finance chairman Trustee Wilf Peck.

FINAL APPROVAL

Final approval was given Tuesday night at a closed meeting between the school board and city and North Cowichan councils.

Department of education approval has been received, but the bylaw has yet to be approved by order in council.

Two new junior high schools, one at Duncan and the other in the Somers area, are to be built. The board plans to use Cowichan High School in Duncan for a senior high, giving instruction up to Grade 13. George Bonner High School, near Cobble Hill, would become a junior high.

OTHER ADDITIONS

Other miscellaneous additions include most of the schools in the district.

New buildings also include a three-room school in the Menzies-Gibbins Road and Maple Bay areas as well as a two-room structure in Quamichan, east of town.

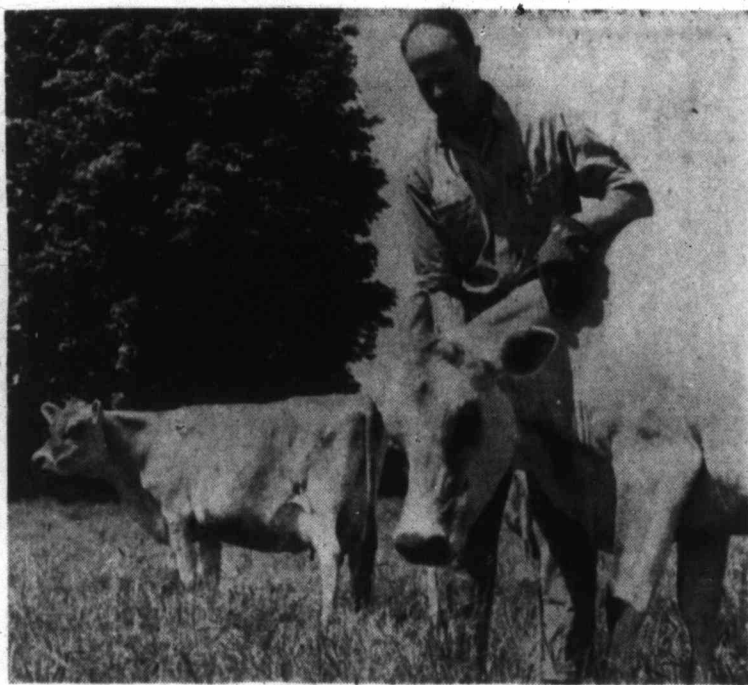

One-room schools are planned in the Crofton, Bayview, Koksilah and Tansor areas. Somers Elementary School may get an activity room and two-room addition.

$25,000 OFFICE

The board also plans to build a $25,000 board office on one of the present Duncan school sites and to vacate the old fire hall on Canada Avenue.

Two buses will be bought to replace the ones that have been condemned by police, costing $18,500. They have done more than 150,000 miles each.

The wood furnace at Duncan Elementary School, more than 45 years old, will be replaced with an oil unit.

JOHN HULBERT AT WORK

Dairymen in Bad Spot Koksilah Farmer Says

DUNCAN—Dairymen are in a crucial position. They are forced to produce more milk in an era of quotas and at the same time have to buy expensive machinery to cut down on costs.

"It puts them in a very unenviable position," says John Hulbert, owner of Koksilah farms, 1½ miles south of here on the Trans-Canada Highway.

It is forcing some farmers to keep their cows either enclosed in a barn or small loafing area so they get the maximum out of the forage they are growing on the land.

"Some think that when cows are turned loose in a field they ruin quite a bit of grass," he said.

His 53 Jerseys waste little grass on his 70-acre property, Mr. Hulbert believes. "What is trampled and spoiled for eating is used to fertilize the land."

BULK MILK TANK

Some farmers are installing expensive equipment to cut costs. Soon Mr. Hulbert hopes to purchase a bulk-milk tank that will be filled with milk running directly from the milking machines in a long tube.

It will cut the work of emptying and cleaning pails and milk cans.

One of the many "up-to-date" Cowichan dairymen who have done away with barns, Mr. Hulbert uses a "milking parlor."

During the winter the cows sleep in a covered area but are able to stretch their legs in a "loafing area." They are let loose in the fields during summer.

On his "picture farm," Mr. Hulbert has a two-stall milking parlor. It was the latest thing five years ago, he said. Soon he will be building a new parlor that will accommodate four cows for quicker handling.

Dairymen have to think of all the angles now. It's not like a few years ago," Mr. Hulbert said.

During the summer his herd stays in an area marked off with small electric-charged fences.

"We don't think much of keeping them inside all the time," he said.

250 Cowichan Students In Sports Day Tomorrow

DUNCAN — Two hundred and fifty students at Cowichan High School representing three student "houses" will be competing tomorrow at the 12th annual sports day.

They will represent Max, well, Prevost and Thorpe houses.

There will be 39 girls' and boys' events including senior boys' half-mile and mile races for perpetual cups.

Rheumatic Fever Test Set in Courtenay Area

The Courtenay area has been selected as a test area for a new preventive program for special treatment of children suffering from rheumatic fever, one of the more severe diseases of childhood.

Health Minister Eric Martin announced last night, but the private physician, who will initiate the treatment in close co-operation with local health services, will still be responsible.

Other areas are Kelowna, Cloverdale, New Westminster and Burnaby.

Mr. Martin said penicillin, taken orally in daily doses, is the main feature of the treatment and supplies are being made available by the national department of health and welfare.

Public health nurses will be actively engaged in the campaign, but the private physician, who will initiate the treatment in close co-operation with local health services, will still be responsible.

Meat Would Be Inspected In New Slaughterhouse

CHEMAINUS — Plans for a co-operative company to build and operate a slaughterhouse and packing plant at Westholme were outlined to Che-mainus Chamber of Commerce this week by J. D. Dobbs, a Westholme farmer.

Operation of the plant, he said, would require a monthly slaughter of 1,000 animals.

Farmers of Vancouver Island could easily provide this number, he said.

At present, Mr. Dobbs emphasized, there is no government inspection of beef or meat killed on Vancouver Island.

Council Candidates Now Number Five

Battle Sure for Oak Bay Seats

Hopes of Oak Bay municipal officials to be spared the cost of a contested byelection to fill two council vacancies June 6 were dashed late yesterday when number of entries climbed to five.

First and second to file papers were H. J. F. Rose, 2344 Middowne, a past-president of the Oak Bay Board of Trade, and former councillor F. A. Robinson, who was disqualified as a council member recently through a real estate transaction.

A provincial department of highways engineer, John Douglas Watts, 2285 Woodlawn Crescent, entered the running last night. Mr. Watts was an unsuccessful Oak Bay council candidate last December.

They seek to fill the balance of two two-year terms which commenced last December. One was the seat held by Mr. Robinson and the other was held by Coun. Ralph Mathews, who resigned due to ill-health. Mr. Rose is an insurance salesman who was formerly manager of the Oak Bay branch of the Bank of Montreal.

Two others who have announced they will run are Norman Pittman, 3570 Beach Drive, an insurance broker, and John A. de Bourcier, 2761 Dufferin, a business manager.

6,000 Tax Notices Aimed at Oak Bay

Some 6,000 Oak Bay residents will receive their tax notices—totalling more than $1,000,000—in the mail this week, municipal clerk A. D. Findlay said last night.

Deadline for the payment of the taxes is June 30 and the council imposes a five per cent penalty from July 2. Ratepayers who do not receive their notices through the mail should notify the municipal hall, Mr. Findlay said.

Heavier Fines

Banned Drivers Given Warning

Magistrate William Ostler served warning yesterday that the fine for driving while under suspension would in future be heavier.

"There have been altogether too many cases of this kind in the last little while," said the magistrate. "The penalty has been kept reasonably moderate in the hope of a good effect, but this has not proved to be the case."

The warning was brief for two men: John Edward Croft, 931 Williston, and Stanley R. Tucker, 1601 Esquimalt, both of whom pleaded guilty to the charge.

Each was fined $100. Practice for the last few years was to levy a $50 fine for a first offence on this charge.

Acres of Plastic Will Line Pool

The swimming pool in Kinsmen-Gorge Park will be lined with about two acres of plastic sheeting soon, to make it the best swimming facility in Greater Victoria, John Graeme, Esquimalt engineer, said last night.

The pool will be pumped dry and cleaned out. Mr. Graeme said. After the plastic sheeting is installed it will be covered with nine to 12 inches of clean sand. The plastic will prevent mud mixing with the sand.

The 80,000 square feet of plastic, six-thousandths of an inch thick, will cost about $6,000 to install.

Black Ball Ship Hits Skids Monday

A U.S. company, gambling $3,000,000 that it knows its way around the financial pitfalls of year-round daily ferry service between Victoria and Washington State, will launch its 341-foot Mv Coho at Seattle on Monday.

The wager, according to Black Ball Transport Inc. vice-president L. V. Venable, is far from a sure thing.

USUAL PITFALLS

He said his company hopes to avoid the usual pitfalls of ferry operation by launching a program for increased winter travel between Victoria and the U.S., and by backing up the Coho's passenger operation with a freight service.

The Coho, expected to go into service between Victoria and Port Angeles in mid-November this year, will double as a Seattle-Port Angeles cargo carrier.

FULL-YEAR SERVICE

Mr. Venable said that present passenger volume alone cannot support full-year ferry service on the run, but by promoting winter travel and handling freight, the company hopes to build volume to the point where two daily round trips between Port Angeles and Victoria will be necessary during winter months.

"We believe the Port Angeles-Victoria run will become the main arterial route between the United States and Canada in the Pacific Northwest as soon as the Hood Canal bridge is completed in 1960," he said.

FOUR DAILY TRIPS

"By next summer we hope to be running four round trips daily and within four or five years we may have to build another ferry."

Negotiations for a Victoria terminal are not yet completed but it is believed the Coho will dock in the Inner Harbor.

The Coho will carry 108 large cars and 500 to 1,000 passengers.

Market

Another Protest Made

Another protest against destruction of the market building was sent to city council yesterday.

Maj. F. V. Longstaff, 50 King George Terrace, in a letter to the mayor and council, said he had looked at the building with "an architect's eye."

He said the building "is so strongly built it would cost at least $22,000 to demolish."

He said the market building should be publicized as a tourist attraction and be given "encouragement and publicity."

COURTENAY, B.C. (CP)—The city's plan to sell timber in the Brown's River area, now the city watershed but formerly a public park, have been postponed following protests from a fish and game group on the grounds that the area in question might not always be watershed and could be opened as a public park.

Ear Defects Detected Electronically

Bay Kiwanis Club, look on. The service club presented the device to the school board yesterday for use in Oak Bay schools. — (Colonist photo.)

Dignitaries Greet Port

Alberni Pioneer Opens New Hall

PORT ALBERNI — Mrs. Alice Crakanthorp, born 96 years ago on the site of the present city, officiated at the unveiling of a plaque commemorating the official opening of Port Alberni's new municipal building yesterday afternoon.

Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley D. Black cut the white ribbon officially opening the hall. He presented the scissors used in the ceremony to Mrs. Crakanthorp.

Mr. Black said he was impressed by the economic and efficient planning, the dignity and decor of the new building.

FREEDOM OF CITY

John Squire, Alberni MLA, acted as master-of-ceremonies in a program highlighted by presentation by Mayor Loran Jordan of the freedom of the city to Ald. W. C. (Mike) Hamilton, retiring after 24 years as a council member. Ald. Hamilton becomes the first freeman of Port Alberni.

The building was dedicated by Rev. J. D. Verkerk, while Rev. Father A. E. Leonard offered prayers.

GUARD OF HONOR

RCMP in scarlet uniforms formed a guard-of-honor at the entrance to the building during the ceremonies. Alberni District High School band was in attendance. Hundreds of local people and visitors crowded out into Argyle Street in front of the building.

Among those extending greetings from other municipalities were Maj.-Gen. C. A. P. Munson, reeve of North Cowichan and president of the UBCM; Mayor Pete Maffeo, Nanaimo; Mayor Jack Debon, Duncan; Mayor William Moore, Courtenay; Reeve H. R. Brown, Central Saanich; Reeve Brown, Central Saanich; Reeve George Chatterton, Saanich; Ald. Geoffrey Edgewood, Victoria; Mayor Jack Luckhurst, Alberni.

CONGRATULATIONS

Ralph M. Shaw, president of MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd., offered congratulations on behalf of the company.

He Stange, president of the Stange Construction Co. Ltd., contractors for the building, presented the key to Dexter Stockhill, of the architectural firm of Wade, Stockhill, Armour and Partners, who turned it over to Mayor Jordan, and presented the plaque on behalf of his firm.

Besides Mrs. Crakanthorp, who spent her infancy here at the time when Anderson & Co. was pioneering the B.C. lumber industry in the 1860s, another old timer was honored. Alfred Carmichael, now a resident of Victoria, spoke briefly recalling his association with the district in the early 1890s.

United Appeal Not for 'Army'

NANAIMO — The Salvation Army has declined to take part in Nanaimo's United Appeal. It will embark on its own Red Shield campaign June 1.

The campaign, which is for $9,000, will continue for one month.

An official of the Salvation Army said that it is contrary to national policy to take part in united appeal or community chest programs. The Nanaimo Red Shield campaign was postponed May 1 while a directive came from "Sally Ann" headquarters in Toronto.

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held today for John William Abbott, 74, who retired here three years ago and had been superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Whitehorse for 13 years.

He died Monday at King's Daughters' Hospital.

Mr. Abbott was a veteran of the First World War and had homesteaded in Saskatchewan.

While farming at Fort St. John from 1921 to 1943 he was a justice of the peace and coroner. Mr. Abbott was in charge of the experimental farm from 1943 to 1956.

He is survived by his widow, Violet.

Services will be in Hirst funeral home, Rev. W. F. Burns officiating. Burial will take place in Mountain View Cemetery.

ALERT BAY, B.C. (CP)—

The fishboat, Young Hustler I, found aground on nearby Harbledown Island early Wednesday, was in no danger her owners said later.

She was abandoned with her lights blazing and no sign of the crew.

An official of Kingcome Navigation said the boat had run aground and the crew left vessels while they sought help.

The boat was floated off Wednesday.

NANAIMO — Annual election of officers for Nanaimo Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held at the Malaspina Hotel today.

ALBERNI — A young man whose 19-year-old brother is in hospital with a fractured skull, was fined $50 in Alberni court when he pleaded guilty to careless driving.

A charge of permitting an unlicensed driver to operate his car resulted in a $15 fine for Klaas Schievink, when he admitted that he had allowed a 13-year-old boy to drive.

DUNCAN — A "fun fair" promised to end all similar types of events is planned Saturday by the Second Duncan Scout Troop.

A private antique collection that includes three trains, a stage and some buggies, old logging equipment and vintage cars has been "loaned" to them.

They are owned by Gerald Wellburn, Deerholme.

The steam, industrial and streamlined trains and other vehicles will be used for rides for children and adults.

Fair will be on the Wellburn property, four miles south of town, from 1 to 6 p.m.

NANAIMO — Nanaimo firemen were called out yesterday morning to Whittingham and Martin store where an electrical short circuit had caused fire in the wing of the downtown store. Little fire damage was done but smoke damage was extensive.

CHEMUNUS — A meeting to discuss details of the royal visit here in July has been set for 8 p.m. Tuesday in Chemunus municipal hall.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are scheduled to make a one-hour tour of the huge MacMillan and Bloedel sawmill here July 16.

'Some Dicker in the Air' After Parley with Indians

View Royal incorporation committee last night met with chiefs of the Songhees and Esquimalt Indian bands to discuss possible inclusion of some 200 acres of reserve lands in the proposed village municipality.

Committee spokesman D. W. Bradford said following the meeting that no firm proposals came from either side during the informal meeting.

"We told them what we're doing and why," he said. "And in return the committee was told what would be involved if the reserve lands did come within municipal boundaries.

"You might say there is some dicker in the air," Mr. Bradford added. "But this is only a committee. We have no power at all to dicker."

UPPER HAND

"I suppose Esquimalt at this juncture has the upper hand because it can go in there and say what they like."

However, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said last night the municipality is waiting for the Indians to make the first move in calling a meeting.

ENTIRELY WRONG

"It's entirely wrong to say we're after the Indians' rich lands, as has been suggested in the newspapers," the reeve said. If they feel it is to their advantage to develop reserve lands within the municipality it might work out quite well for both sides.

"It's entirely up to the Indians—it's their land," Mr. Wurtele said. "We're looking for the Indians to make the first move in calling a meeting."

Reeve Wurtele said the municipality is looking for more land—"we're snowed up with applications for lots"—but would not think of bringing the reserve within Esquimalt boundaries "at the expense of our own taxpayers."

ERRINGTON — Word has been received that Dennis Simons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Simons of Errington, now studying at the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, has won first prize for violin in the under-18 class at the Ealing Music Festival. Incorporation Liked Spot Check Shows

A spot check taken this week indicates strong support for incorporation of View Royal as a village.

A spokesman said last night that there was "100 per cent response" from some 30 homeowners in one of the newer sections who were asked to sign the petition of incorporation.

A. W. Bradford, chairman of the View Royal incorporation committee, said this doesn't mean there is a total lack of opposition within the territory—"but at the moment we're feeling very happy."

Circulation of the petition will probably begin in earnest sometime next week among some 2,500 residents, he said. The petitioners must show sworn records proving a three-fifths majority favor incorporation.

Then the B.C. cabinet may approve a poll of property owners which would require a three-fifths majority before

'I Feel It Is Lovely'

Rosses Display New Mansion

Lieutenant-Governor Bought the Furnishings

British Columbia's new $1,600,000 Government House went on view yesterday when Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross were hosts to some 60 British Columbia and American press representatives.

Except for a reception next Sunday when some 1,300 guests—workmen and contractors and their wives who worked on Government House—will tour the luxurious new mansion, it doesn't appear the general public will see Government House for some time.

"I somehow feel it isn't new, but I feel it is lovely," said Mrs. Ross as she proudly showed off the building yesterday.

A principal change in the main staircase, which now risers on either side of the main entrance hall.

There was obvious pride in the manner in which Mr. and Mrs. Ross showed off the mansion yesterday.

Mrs. Ross confided to the Colonist that she had been in conference with the architects of the tradition, comfort, charm, dignity and efficiency of the old structure has been reproduced.

"I somehow feel it isn't new, but I feel it is lovely," said Mrs. Ross as she proudly showed off the building yesterday.

Best Place for Treasure

"You couldn't find a better resting place for any treasure or anything of value. More people see it here and it gets the best of care. We were very happy to do it," she smiled.

Works Minister W. N. Chant and other public works department officials were high in praise for Mrs. Ross. "Sometimes she was on the job at 5.30 a.m. and nearly always by 8.30. She supervised everything and even moved furniture herself," said one.

The Rosses seemed almost apologetic that everything in Government House seemed to be of top quality. They were careful to explain that everything went out to tender and that the work was evenly distributed as much as possible to B.C. firms.

"These curtains are all the very best fabrics. They will be here for 100 years or more," Mrs. Ross said.

Glass for the chandeliers was purchased from an Eastern Canadian firm and the three big 200-pound ballroom chandeliers which are lowered by a winch for servicing, are copies of the ones in Buckingham Palace. These crystal-and-brass chandeliers have six centre globes and 16 candles each.

In the kitchen some of the furniture was saved from the fire and is in use on special request from the head chef, who said he was used to the old tables and refrigerator. Kitchen cabinets are full of food.

"We run a small hotel here," Mrs. Ross explained. "Everything is full. Every inch."

Khrushchev to Visit

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev will visit his tiniest satellite, Albania, next week, Tass news agency says.

The visit falls on the original Berlin crisis date of May 27—indicating Khrushchev does not expect any flareup at that time.

Somebody's Out In Room Count

The chateleine of Government House will have to start counting the rooms of the new mansion this morning.

Mrs. Ross said yesterday there were about 57 rooms, but the official count is 162 rooms—60 on the basement floor, 27 on the ground floor, 37 on the second and 38 on the third.

Choice Furnishings from Ireland, Scotland

Furnishings for the dining-room, which seats 46 guests, have almost entirely been donated to the mansion by Mrs. Ross, who displays them here. Donegal carpet with dogwood motif was woven in Ireland. The table is oak, from Inverness, Scotland. B.C. crests worked into the fabric of every chair are the work of craftsmen in Peebles, Scotland. Screen in the corner came from Hatley Park.

Enough Magnificence . . .

By EILEEN LEAROYD

Yesterday I poured tea at Government House.

The occasion was the reception given the press by Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross to view the new Government House.

I poured tea following Miss Janet Partridge of the Vancouver Sun and Miss Elizabeth Forbes of The Times.

By the time my turn came, at the gracious invitation of Miss Ruth MacLean secretary to Mrs. Ross, people seemed to have stopped drinking tea.

I think I poured five cups—one to a lady representing the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, one to a lady unknown to me, one to L. M. Currie of the Similkameen Spotlight and two to Miss Forbes, who hadn't had a chance to drink any tea before.

Before this I had followed the attractive and tireless Mrs. Ross through the four floors of Government House where there was enough magnificence to spoil ordinary living forever.

It was exceedingly pleasant to sit in the middle of the ballroom, behind a table dazzling with silver and candles, and not pour tea.

Did ever the oil barons and earls have it like this? Beneath me, I am happy to say, was the ballroom floor—quarter-cut red oak flooring.

Around the edge of the floor, the kind of rich red carpeting that always brings coronets and tiaras to mind.

Garden Showpiece Is Grand Terrace—Canada's Biggest

Magnificent View From Royal Suite

Showplace of new Government House is the grand terrace which is 107 feet long and 55 feet wide and the biggest garden terrace in all Canada.

The rebout of this grand terrace looks out over Juan de Fuca Strait, the Olympics and a great part of Victoria as well as the rose garden which will be unique in Canada and will show color the year round.

And the royal suite looks over the grand terrace and all its glory.

MINIATURE KEW

A $40,000 miniature Kew Gardens, a horticultural delight which will be open to the public, is now being developed on the grounds of Government House.

Landscape architect Robert Savery and chief gardener Len Butterworth have planned as much as possible to make the gardens a blaze of color for the visit in July of Queen Elizabeth, but the real beauty of the planned formal gardens will not be fully seen for three or four years.

TIMED FOR QUEEN

Gardens in the grand terrace have already been planted with annuals to bloom for the Queen.

The formal grand terrace garden includes a grass panel and large flower bed designed to be a mass of color—deep red, orange to yellow.

The east garden court of Government House includes a camellia garden in one corner and dwarf rhododendrons, Japanese maples and junipers. This court connects with the tea garden terrace where a vista is seen through Japanese cherry trees of 10 different varieties.

ROSE HISTORY

Highlight of the gardens will be a "Rose Garden of the Ages," which will trace the history of roses from the earliest brambles to the latest varieties and will include historical roses such as the Lancashire and Yorkshire varieties symbolic of Britain's royal houses. The gardens will feature 900 different rose plants.

New On Fireproof

Mansions Ablaze Old Story

All Victoria was shocked when Government House on Rockland Avenue went up in flames in a spectacular fire in the early morning of April 15, 1957.

But it was an old story. Fires have dogged the history of Government House.

That is why the new Government House has been made as fireproof as possible. In addition to every possible construction precaution, the new building has been equipped with a sprinkler system which will automatically call firemen and start pouring out water when heat reaches a certain point.

The original Cary House, built on the present site in 1852, burned to the ground after three months.

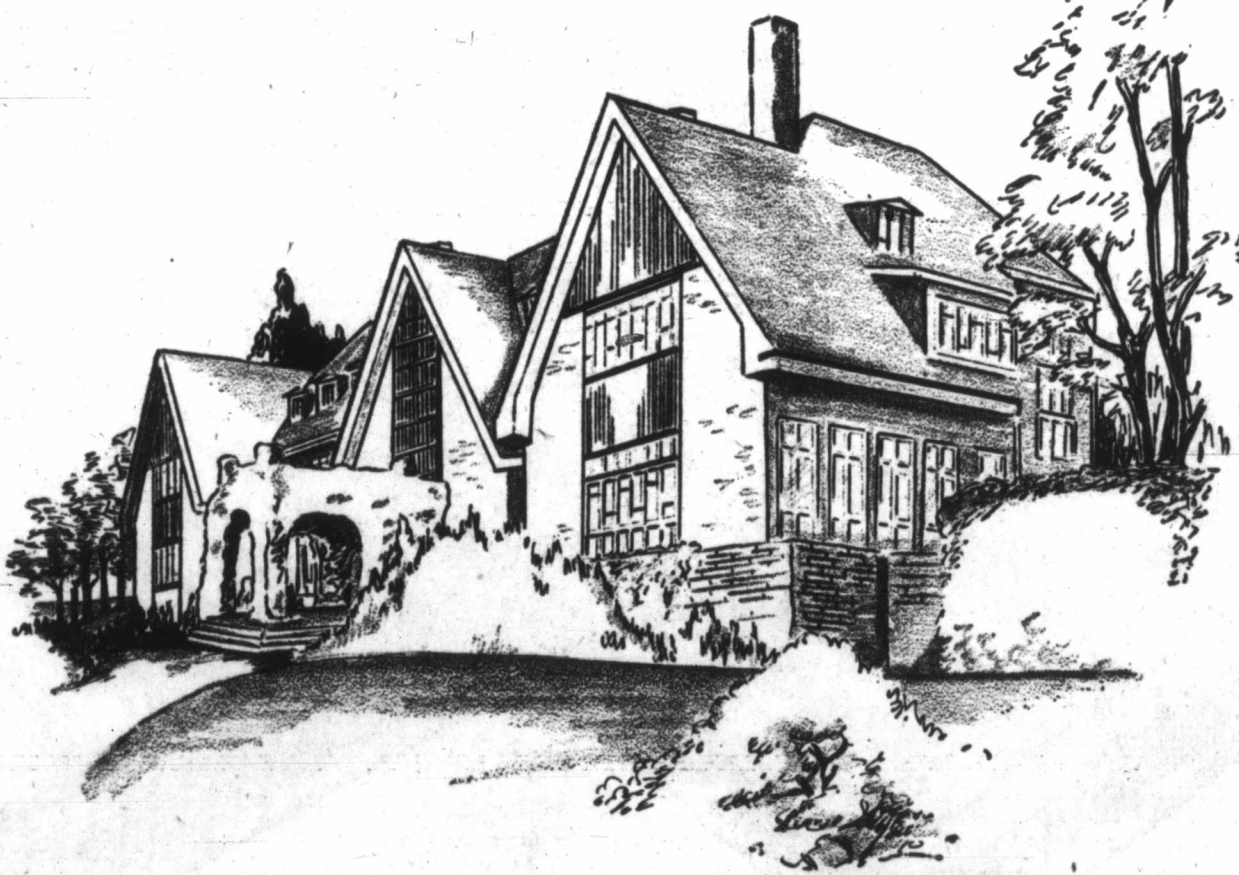

Seven years later Attorney-General George Hunter Cary rebuilt it at a cost of $30,000 and renamed it Cary Castle.

Bought by the province in 1865, it served six lieutenant-governors before it burned down May 18, 1899.

A new Government House was completed in August, 1904, and stood proudly over the city until April 15, 1957.

CITY CREWS SET TO STRIKE

Government House Waits in Splendor To Welcome Queen

By EILEEN LEAROYD

When Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip move into British Columbia's new Government House July 16 and 17, they will be staying in the most expensive and luxurious government mansion in Canada.

The $1,600,000 vice-regal residence, which boasts a lower-lounge fireplace inlaid with gold-bearing quartz, is even more lavish than Ottawa's Rideau Hall.

See Pages 25, 26 and 27.

When the Queen enters her Victoria "home" she will be confronted by a sea of scarlet carpet, pink walls, drapes patterned after the ancestral fabric of Earl Lothian's castle, acres of natural oak and B.C. spruce panelling, pink

Sun-Washed Look

Gone are the dark blue walls in the entrance, and the big stained-glass windows. The whole entrance is now lit by a fine white paper finely figured in deep red. Clear glass now forms the big hall window which reaches nearly two storeys, giving Government House a fresh, sun- and air-washed look it never seemed to have before.

The suite already prepared for Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip is a masterpiece of understated good taste and comfort.

Mrs. Ross, wife of the lieutenant-governor, personally selected all furnishings and decorations for the royal suite. On the second floor, it is made up of two bedrooms, two bathrooms, a sitting-room and a dressing room.

The sitting room is L-shaped, with rose carpeting, chairs and sofas covered in white satin with a floral design, pink-and-white marble fireplace. The whole room is bathed in sunshine and the floor wallpaper in ivory reflects the shadings of the sky and ocean which seem to pour in the big windows.

A large dressing room is simply four walls of mirrors, cupboards and drawers which reach to the ceiling.

Mirrored in Chandelier

The principal bedroom again repeats the velvet-texture ivory walls. The drapes are of floral satin, there is another pink-and-white marble fireplace, the woodwork is a muted champagne color, and all the pinks and blues and greens in the drapes and on the satin-upholstered beds are mirrored in the sparkling crystal chandelier.

The second bedroom, furnished in a more masculine fashion, carries out an ivory-and-green theme mixed with soft grey. "The McNab" by

Stairway for Royalty

For the special convenience of royal guests there is the West Stairway, carpeted in scarlet, which runs from the top floor, down through the suites for royal visitors, to the main floor, and down to the lower floor.

On this "royal floor" is also the suite for His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Ross and Mrs. Ross, plus four other luxurious bedrooms.

On the floor above are nine

bedrooms which may be used for the staffs of distinguished visitors.

The large bedroom immediately above the royal suite is already in readiness for the Queen's dresser.

When the Queen and Prince Philip arrive, they will be accompanied by a fairly large staff. Mrs. Ross says nine or more will occupy the top floor, and a further eight or nine will be accommodated in a cottage in Government House grounds.

Home, Sweet Home

Home at last in the new $1,600,000 Government House, Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross relaxed in his easy chair and said: "I like it." He spent undisclosed thousands of dollars of his own money to help furnish the new mansion.

CCFer Raps Spending On Lavish New Home

Criticism of "lavish" spending on British Columbia's new Government House in Victoria was levelled at the Social Credit government Wednesday by Gordon Dowling, CCF MLA for Burnaby.

Mr. Dowling, who toured the building with other members of the legislature Tuesday, said in Vancouver he wished the government gave "as much care and attention to other buildings."

He said a new home for the aged at Esquimalt will open Friday after seven years of planning and construction at a cost of $1,900,000.

"And yet when the lieutenant-governor and his wife are homeless," he said, "the government takes only two years to build a sumptuous, lavish structure for $1,600,000." This, he said, was "a commentary on the social philosophy of this government."

Bulletins

GENEVA — France and West Germany Wednesday night were reported to have blocked an American-British move to lay a skeleton German peace treaty before Russia at the Big Four conference.

LOS ANGELES—Four mice may be hurled into space in a satellite today in the first U.S. attempt to put animals into orbit and recover them.

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala—The Guatemalan government says four armed schooners had left Cuba carrying forces for an invasion of Guatemala.

DULUTH, Minn.—An entire steel mill will be shipped from Wales this summer via the St. Lawrence Seaway and on to Regina by rail.

NEW YORK—A picket collapsed with a stroke outside of one of New York's six strike-harassed voluntary hospitals. He was rushed into the emergency room and received quick treatment which the hospital said may have saved his life.

RIO DE JANEIRO—A commuter ferry collided with a tugboat in Rio Harbor and sank. At least six persons were drowned.

PRINCESS ANNE

Princess To Join Brownies

LONDON (UPI)—Princess Anne will become a Brownie and have her own pack in Buckingham Palace, it was announced yesterday, and like all "Brownies" she will have to do the dishes.

It was Queen Elizabeth's idea that her lively eight-year-old daughter don the brown uniform of the "Brownies" of the Girl Scouts. The Queen is a former Girl Guide and patron of the Girl Guides Association.

The "Princess Anne" pack will be open to members of the now-operating Holy Trinity pack and "certain" children who live near Buckingham Palace. A palace spokesman said the children would be from all walks of life.

Reject New Offer

A spokesman for Victoria's 250 civic outside workers said last night the union will strike "whenever we see fit" unless city council agrees to a 19-cent wage increase.

C. M. Thompson, as delegate representing the Civic Employees Protective Association, Local 50, made the statement in a report to Victoria Labor Council.

Earlier in the evening Mayor Scurrah had no comments on the strike decision.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

VLC delegates voted unanimously to support the union in any strike.

If the union strikes it will halt garbage collection, street cleaning, road repairs and a number of other services in the city.

"If you suffer any inconvenience," Mr. Thompson told delegates, "I ask you not to blame civic employees, but to blame the city fathers."

OFFER REJECTED

He said the union rejected the latest settlement offer drafted at a special city council meeting Tuesday. At the union meeting held Tuesday night membership decided to strike "whenever we see fit."

Mr. Thompson said: "And if the city doesn't come up with the 19 cents an hour recommended by the conciliation board—that's what is going to happen."

He said Victoria's civic outside workers now get wages below those of surrounding municipalities despite the fact that it is the second largest city in B.C.

ONLY $1.74

Even with the 19-cent increase sought by the union, he said, civic outside workers here would only receive $1.74 compared with the $1.79 base pay for other Island municipalities.

"All the figures show we're entitled to an increase of 41 cents an hour (union's original request) . . . but the city has even refused to look at the 19 cents recommended by the conciliation board."

The city has publicly offered the union 7½ cents, and it is understood that the latest offer rejected by the outside workers was for 9 cents.

Pardon Asked Of Japanese

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. government publicly sought forgiveness from thousands of Americans of Japanese ancestry who were forced into the Second World War "relocation centers" after the attack on Pearl Harbor.

At a moving ceremony attended by high government officials, the justice department formally completed a program to return U.S. citizenship to most of those Nisei who renounced it in a wave of bitterness against their confinement.

'We Won't Start It'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, in an interview made public yesterday, told a group of American visitors that the Soviet Union "will not start a war." "And no lunatic in the United States will start one," the premier added.

John Billings of Forest Industrial Relations, representing the operators, said management also had understood that the conciliation officer would bring down a report that would eliminate the necessity of a conciliation board.

The IWA and coast lumber operators were called to Mr. Wicks' Victoria office Tuesday, he said, and conciliation officer R. G. Clements' report was given. It recommended only that the dispute be referred to a conciliation board.
